SCULPTOR PLEADS FOR DEEPER ART APPRECIATION

Harold Swartz Speaks to Central Avenue Parent-Teacher Association

"Learn art from art and not from lectures," was the plea made yesterday afternoon by Harold Swartz, sculptor and resident of La Ramada park at 1210 North Brand boulevard, in his informal talk on "Art" at the Central Avenue P. T. A. meeting at the school.

Unlike many speakers of the professions, Mr. Swartz talked with his hearers instead of at them, resulting in marked interest and their understanding of those things he wished to bring them about.

"It doesn't take any great dispensation from the Almighty to understand and appreciate art," declared Mr. Swartz. "It takes association and discrimination."

"An art education means for the producer, knowing those things necessary to produce art and for art patrons it means knowing art history."

Art Has Influence

"I contend that if a man were given a cover from a popular magazine and a great masterpiece to hang on the wall for six months and at the end of that time he had to give one up, it would be the magazine cover. Why? Because the magazine cover is a passing entertainment, while the masterpiece is real. It is just like comparing vaudeville to grand opera."

"Art has had an influence on every phase of human life and activity. If it were not for the Christian religion wouldn't be alive today, for before the day of printing it was the artist who interpreted religion to the people."

"My plea to the schools, the teachers and parents is to teach the children to look at pictures. You'll be surprised at their reaction to a collection of wonderful pictures. A work of art gives forth a never-ending source of pleasure and stimulation. Art is not sentimental and artists are not long-haired dreamers who can't make money. Art is real and my plea is learn art from art and not from lectures."

Local Art Colony

During his talk Mr. Swartz complimented Glendale on its colony of artists, many of whom are well-known in the east. The work of these men and women, Mr. Swartz commended to his audience and suggested securing collections of their work to be hung in the schools for the study and appreciation of the children.

His suggestion was considered favorably by the P. T. A. company and they are hoping to secure work of Glendale resident artists for hanging in the school.

Before Mr. Swartz spoke Mrs. J. H. Burris sang two enjoyable numbers, "My Desire," and "La Boheme" (Pavane). She was accompanied by Mrs. Albert Young.

The count of the room representatives present showed that Miss Taylor's third grade had the largest number and the room received the prize basket filled with poinsettias.

Paul Rank Tells Of Colorado Storm

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fuesher of 622 North Isabel street, Glendale, enjoyed a visit recently from Paul Rank of Holyoke, Colo., who has recently come west and located in Eagle Rock. He is enjoying California, and the mild change of climate. One of his last experiences in Colorado was a cyclone, which covered the locality of his home with a shower of tumble weeds covered with iceicles that had been brought down from the mountain sides in the storm. The property of a brother of Mr. Fuesher, which is in the same vicinity, suffered more or less damage in the same storm.

Action Is Not Taken Regard Camp Ground

The city council last night heard charges filed against F. H. Hatfield, owner of an auto camp ground at Riverside and San Fernando, preferred by the city's health department. No action was taken beyond suggesting to the health officials that the ordinance governing camp grounds be strengthened so that in the future charges might be heard in the police court instead of before the council.

DISPLAY OF SPEED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A new legislative speed record was set this afternoon by the senate in passing the Department of Commerce appropriation bill in forty minutes. The bill carried $26,300,000 for the department's activities in the next fiscal year.

Read Ballot, Take Care to Write 'No' And Do Not Use X

Members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce opposed to annexation to Los Angeles are cautioned to read the referendum ballot carefully before voting. There is but one square on the ballot and X must NOT be used in voting. Those OPPOSED to annexation must write NO in the square. Also, ballots must reach the Chamber of Commerce by noon Saturday to be counted.

Up to 9 o'clock this morning more than 400 ballots had been received at the chamber, said Secretary James Rhoades.

Judge Owen C. Emery, president of the Home Protective league, has appointed three members of the league to supervise the count of votes at the request of the Chamber of Commerce directors. They are H. N. Bates, W. T. Tower and Lon Baird.

The anti-annexation forces were asked to name a similar committee, but refused to do so.

COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB WILL BE FORMED HERE

More Than 200 in Glendale Eligible to Join; Hold Preliminary Meet

Glendale is to have a college women's club, plans for which were made yesterday afternoon at a gathering of college and university women at the home of Mrs. A. L. Ferguson at 525 North Jackson street. The new organization is to be known as the Glendale College Women's club and will be organized and conducted similarly to the Los Angeles University Women's club.

The college and university women's clubs are in existence in cities in all parts of the United States and with between 200 and 300 college and university women residing in Glendale the new organization is destined to become a permanent and influential body.

Plan Requirements

Although plans for organization were not completed yesterday it was decided that requirements for membership in the club will be the same as those followed by the Los Angeles University Women's club. The requirements are that the candidate must have had two years of academic work in a college or university offering a four year course and conferring the A. B. degree.

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson was named temporary chairman of the new organization, which is to meet once a month either for a luncheon or tea. Further details are to be announced following the holidays.

Those at Meeting.

The college and university women meeting yesterday at the Ferguson home were Mesdames Frank Parr, Helen F. Moyer, Warren Roberts, E. W. W. Hayward, Julian Hayward, G. A. Gallagher, Paul E. Webb, Aileen Remison, D. F. Reichard and Chalmers Day.

For the next meeting all those eligible for membership in the club are to receive invitations.

Gar Wood to Enter Boats to San Pedro

Gar Wood, internationally known sportsman and owner of "Miss America," world's fastest speed boat, leaves Chicago tonight with his wife and son, Gar, Jr., for Glendale, where he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fellows, Mrs. Wood's parents.

Two of Gar Wood's speed boats are also California bound to participate in the races coming soon at San Pedro.

With Mr. Wood comes Mr. Chapman, secretary of the American Power Boat association, editor of "Motor Boating." Gar Wood, who is president of this association, is also commodore of the Detroit Yacht club and a member of many sporting organizations throughout the country.

It is promised that these entries from Gar Wood's "neck of the woods" will put plenty of pep in the San Pedro events.

E. C. Harris Foils Pair of Holdup Men

When E. C. Harris, manager of the C. S. Stuart pharmacy at Acacia and Glendale avenues, closed the store about 10 o'clock last night he found two formidable looking characters waiting for him outside.

They were two young men wearing long overcoats and they evidently expected to find Mr. Harris burdened with the day's money. However, upon holding him up they failed to find anything and disappeared in the darkness disappointed.

GLENDALE REALTY BOARD OPPOSES L. A. ANNEXING

Decides to Cast Ballot in C. of C. Referendum Against Project

The Glendale Real Estate board, at its weekly luncheon yesterday at the Broadway Inn, voted as an organization to annex "No" to the referendum ballot on annexation, which was sent out this week by the Chamber of Commerce directorate to all its members.

The matter of a vote on the issue was brought up following the reading by Secretary E. F. Hayward, of the Real Estate board, of a communication from the chamber directors which said that the directors, as individuals, had voted against annexation. This declaration was in reply to letters sent the Chamber of Commerce by civic organizations requesting that it make known its stand on the annexation question.

A motion that a vote be cast against Glendale annexing to Los Angeles was made by W. B. Kelly. It was seconded by the entire organization.

William A. Horn, who was a representative of the local realty board at the state convention held last week in Santa Ana, told the assemblage that the convention just concluded was one of the most interesting he had ever attended.

He reported briefly all the important matters which came up for discussion.

One of the most interesting persons in attendance, he said, was Cornelius Cole, who is still active in the real estate business despite the fact that he is 101 years of age. Mr. Cole addressed the 450 realtors present on how real estate was handled in 1849, he stated.

Dr. Jessie Russell, together with Mr. Horn and other members of the board who attended the convention, reported to the meeting that it came to their attention while in Santa Ana that the real estate magazine, known as the California Real Estate, is being published.

SOLDIER BONUS PLANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Two plans for paying a federal bonus to America's four million veterans of the great war will be submitted to President Harding within the next few days for executive approval, said Representative Joseph W. Fordney, Republican, of Michigan, today.

MISS INGLE IS ILL

Miss Helen Ingle of 814 East Harvard street was absent from her duties in the office of the board of education today because of illness.

Uncle John Says--

Mary says to me yesterday, "Ain't it wonderful how tradin' in Glendale is increasin'; how people are comin' to realize that they can buy as cheap and have just as good a choice in Glendale as in Los Angeles and at the same time helpin' themselves by increasin' property values in Glendale?" And I says, "Yes, and look at the effort that is bein' made to draw trade to Los Angeles. Los Angeles papers are usin' every means to extend their circulation in Glendale so as to get higher rates for advertisin' by drawin' trade from here to the big city stores. But by the looks of the crowds on the streets here they ain't succeedin' very well."

Wedded 65 Years, Couple Celebrate With Dinner Party

The sixty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster, descendants of the great American statesman, will be celebrated tonight with a dinner in honor of the aged couple, at the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webster, 1020 South Central avenue.

Daniel Webster was 86 on December 1, and his wife was 85 on November 13. They were married in Concord, N. H., December 15, 1857. Of their six children, only two are now living—the host tonight, J. H. Webster, at the above address, and a son in Burbank, F. S. Webster.

The guests at tonight's birthday party will be Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster, the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lyman of Los Angeles, parents of Mrs. J. H. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Webster of Burbank, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Betz of Glendale, Fred Gray of Glendale, and Miss Ella Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webster.

BOY SCOUTS WILL GET THREE DAYS AMID SNOW

Executive Board Arranges Plans for Outing at Holiday Time

At its meeting last night in the new Boy Scout office the executive board of the Verdugo Hills District Council decided to have a big three day Christmas snow bike to Old Baldy on December 26, 27 and 28. According to present plans of the camping committee, of which Peter L. Perry is chairman, the party will have to be limited to fifty because of the facilities at their disposal at Camp Baldy where they will be fed and lodged.

A big motor bus will convey the scouts to the Toll House from which they will hike to Camp Baldy. A special rate has been granted the scouts of $3 for the three days to include the meals, lodging and transportation. There will be good old fashioned snowball fights and numerous other winter sports indulged in by the scouts. The first fifty scouts to sign up at scout headquarters and to pay their $3 will be the lucky ones to go. E. B. Thomas, one of the Burbank scoutmasters, rushed into the office this morning with eleven reservations for the trip.

Committees Appointed

In preparation for the annual meeting of the council which will be held Friday night, December 29, the following committees were appointed by President Charles L. Chandler: Program, Owen C. Emery and C. C. Cooper; budget, Peter L. Perry, Glendale; Emil F. Swanson, Eagle Rock; Leo L. Lang, Tujunga; and Dr. A. E. W. Yale, Burbank; nominating and membership, L. Kent, A. R. Eastman and Charles L. Chandler. It is the plan of the latter committee to have representatives from all the civic, fraternal, labor and church organizations on the new council.

D. W. Pollard Talks

As a special representative of the Twelfth Regional Committee, D. S. A. D. W. Pollard, formerly scout executive at Chicago and Los Angeles and for years in the Y. M. C. A. and numerous other boys' work organizations, told the board of the future possibilities of the Scout movement in the Verdugo Hills district.

"This is one of the best places I know of in the United States for the boy scout program of outdoor activities," he declared, "and I know that we can pave the way for opening up this greatest program ever devised for boyhood to every boy in the district."

$10,000 to Be Spent On Patterson Park

H. F. Bryan, landscape artist, has been secured by the City Council to take charge of the improvement of Patterson Ave. park and at the council meeting last night the plans for the work as outlined by Mr. Bryan were officially approved.

In order that the work might be carried to a successful conclusion, the council also voted that the sum of $10,000 be transferred from the park and playground fund to pay the costs of the proposed improvements.

HAT SHOT FROM HEAD

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Prohibition agents were looking today for two accomplices of James Youngman and his son, Ralph, who were captured in a barn in little Tujunga canyon following a pitched battle during which the hat of one of the officers was shot from his head.

EASTSIDE RAILWAY FUND CASE ENDS OUT OF COURT

Committee Accepts Offer to Settle Controversy by Payment of $310

The action of certain contributors to the East Glendale railway fund against the committee promoting the project, for an accounting, ended suddenly in the Superior Court yesterday where it came up for trial, according to W. E. Evans and Hartley Shaw, attorneys for the committee. According to these attorneys, the situation was:

"In the early part of the year 1913 the railway company made a proposition to construct a road branching off the main line near Cypress avenue, easterly and northerly along the Childs tract line intercepting Broadway and then along Broadway to Brand boulevard, provided a private right of way should be furnished by the people interested along said route where a right of way was required."

Take Subscriptions

"Committees were appointed by those interested to ascertain the approximate amount of the cost of the right of way and to work out other details in connection with the enterprise. It was ascertained that $40,000 would be sufficient to acquire the necessary property and subscriptions were taken for this amount. Approximately $23,000 was paid in to the committee by those subscribing and a large part of the right of way was acquired."

"In the meantime the railway company extended its line from Brand boulevard along Broadway and eventually south to a point on the Childs tract near Harvard street as a part of undertaking to hold the line."

Values Go Down

"The war came on, real estate values dropped and there was little if any market, so the committee was unable to collect more than $16,000 of the subscriptions and as a consequence was unable to acquire the remaining portion of the right of way. Great effort was made to collect the unpaid subscriptions but without success."

Annexation Forces! Something for You!

M. L. Garrigus, in a communication to a Los Angeles newspaper, makes complaint about the Los Angeles city officials.

Mr. Garrigus is a resident of Hollywood—a part of the city of Los Angeles—and the suggestion is made that perhaps it would be a good idea for the annexation forces in Glendale to have copies in large type so that they might be read easily and often. Here is a portion of the letter:

"What is the matter with our city officials? It seems like about all they are good for is to draw their salaries and levy assessments which the people do not want. My own personal experience with them leads me to think that they are a bunch of scoundrels who would scourg the money changers from our city temple. Speaking for our people out here in this section of Hollywood, will say that we find it impossible to obtain anything in the way of enforcement of the laws already made. On Santa Monica boulevard in particular, we have a fire zoning ordinance, passed six months ago and which is a dead letter despite that a dozen flagrant violations have occurred and every one in writing have been reported by myself to the proper authorities. Nothing doing, and the violator goes on with a defiant smile, and encourages others to do likewise."

"For over a year we have, as an association and as individuals, endeavored to have somebody's blunder in the matter of the Los Angeles Street Car company's track corrected here at the terminus of the Western Avenue line. 'Nothing doing,' notwithstanding promises and other made in particular. Utilities and other city officials have done nothing to pacify the indignant people. It still is a bone of contention, in the meantime the company collecting money for fares and unloading the passengers from one to three blocks short of the destination, as announced on the car signs."

Council Takes Stand On Motor Bus Lines

Submitted by Councilman Sam Davis, the city council last night unanimously passed the following resolution:

"Be It Resolved, that this council has granted no motor bus permits to any one recently in the city of Glendale, and it is further resolved that we do not intend to grant any permits paralleling the proposed Glendale avenue line or other lines of the Glendale Montrose Railway company."

CHIEF OAKS FAILED TO SECURE 'LITTLE PHIL'

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Chief of Police Louis D. Oaks was reported today en route back to Los Angeles following the collapse of his plans at El Paso, Texas, to capture "Little Phil" Alguin, bandit slayer of Police Detective John J. Fitzgerald.

HARDING AND CABINET DISCUSSES NEW THREAT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—President Harding and his cabinet discussed for two hours and a half today the critical international situation affecting German reparations, France's threat to invade the Ruhr, and what remedial measures the United States can adopt with regard to the entire European situation. It was the longest cabinet meeting since the coal strike last summer.

POINCARÉ DEFENDS COURSE IN CONFERENCE

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Premier Poincaré late today went before the chamber of deputies and defended his course in the allied premiers' conference at London. "I cannot disclose the details," he said, "but I assure you that I did not deviate from the program that I have long advocated." Speaking of the Lausanne conference, he said: "The Turks will not take the responsibility of breaking it up."

LA FOLLETTE MAKES CHARGE AGAINST LASKER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The direct charge that Chairman Lasker of the shipping board personally sought to "improperly influence" Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, to get organized labor to support the ship subsidy bill was made in the senate this afternoon by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, in beginning his heralded onslaught on the measure.

FRANCE WILLING TO ACT ALONE AGAINST GERMANY

PARIS, Dec. 15.—Independent French action against Germany in the occupation of part of the Ruhr basin, was threatened by Premier Poincaré in his declaration of policy in the chamber of deputies this afternoon. "France wishes to proceed with the allies in fullest cooperation," said Premier Poincaré. "But if necessary, France will act alone. She will install her own engineers (mining technicians) and customs officials, but will reserve places for the British engineers and officials if they will go in later."

DAUGHERTY HEARING TO CONTINUE, IS DECISION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Unwillingness of Representative Keller, Republican, of Minnesota, to appear before the house judiciary committee in support of his impeachment charges against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will not bring the proceedings to an end, but will result in a more determined investigation of the various "high crimes and misdemeanors" charged against the attorney general, Representative Volstead, Republican, of Minnesota, the committee chairman, announced this afternoon.

MORE AIRPLANES JOIN SEARCH FOR MISSING MEN

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 15.—Seven patrol forest fire airplanes, drawn from throughout California, left Rockwell field here at 9:10 this morning and ten more are expected to leave this afternoon to join the score of aircraft already engaged in the search for Colonel F. C. Marshall and Lieutenant C. L. Webber, missing for eight days and now believed dead. The great fleet of airplanes, in squadrons of four to six each, are combing the mountain zone near Sonora, being augmented by cavalry, mounted rangers, automobiles and Indian runners.

MOONSHINERS AND DRY AGENTS RESUME FIGHT

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Dec. 15.—Hostilities were resumed in the mountains of Menifee county today between the moonshiners and prohibition enforcement officers. Bob Ballard, said to be the leader of the outlaw gang which has been defying government agents, was shot and instantly killed, and his brother, Charles Ballard, severely wounded. Guy Cole, dry agent, of Bowling Green, was also killed. Today's casualties brings the total dead to four, Robert E. Buff and Dave Treadway, government agents, having been killed in raids on the Ballards last Saturday and Sunday. Sam Collins, state prohibition director, is said to be rushing reinforcements to the raiding party which numbered twenty agents. Governor Edwin P. Morrow has offered a reward for the arrest of each of the Ballards, and Captain U. G. McFarland, who led Sunday's raid, has declared he would take these outlaws dead or alive.

COUE CHRISTMAS TO BE GIVEN TO PRISONERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—The 3500 men and women shut up behind the gray walls of San Quentin and Folsom state penitentiaries—many for life—are to have a Coue Christmas. Through the efforts of Pauline Jacobson, well known writer and social worker, the two California prisons are to be converted into great human laboratories to test the efficacy of the formula of the noted Parisian doctor. Miss Jacobson, with the assistance of other social and welfare workers, is now busily engaged in preparing for the prisoners' Coue Christmas. Each prisoner will receive Christmas morning a Coue string tied into twenty knots with an appropriate printed explanation of its purpose and the method to be followed. She said Dr. Coue advises those who would help themselves to put one of these strings under their pillow and each morning and evening finger each knot while the lips repeat the Coue formula: "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting better and better."

PLAN NO ACTION ON KLAN OR PROHIBITION

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 15.—With the members of the governors' conference still agitated today from a heated midnight debate on the Ku Klux Klan, Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania, announced as chairman, that no action will be taken by the state executives at their annual meeting either on the Klan or prohibition. The debate, which furnished the conference with its first touch of excitement, followed a sweeping denunciation of the Klan by Governor Ben Olcott, of Oregon, and centered on an address made at the close of the afternoon session by Governor Parker of Louisiana, in which he called on his fellow governors to put themselves squarely on record against the "invisible empire" and declared prohibition "almost a farce." The hour of midnight had struck before the discussion opened. Governor Cameron Morrison of North Carolina, interpreted Governor Parker's statements as a challenge to him, himself and the other governors present to declare themselves on the Ku Klux Klan. He objected to this and to Governor Parker's attack on prohibition. He stated he was not defending the Klan.

CHRISTMAS PARTY WILL BE GIVEN BY ROTARIANS

Members and Their Wives Will Be Entertained on December 28

In keeping with the holiday spirit the Glendale Rotary club decided among other things under consideration at its weekly meeting yesterday noon, to have a Christmas tree party of its own. And, as no such event would be complete without the women, members will bring their wives.

The date is December 28 and the hour 6:30 o'clock. The committee in charge comprises Thomas D. Watson, decorations, George U. Moyse, table, Paul Carson, music, Ernest E. Ford, gifts, and Richardson D. White, dinner.

A feature of the occasion will be the presentation of a gift to each woman. Each member, also, will be tendered a gift by a fellow member, these latter tokens to be selected with a view to affording the occasion a little additional merriment.

Happier Children

It was also announced that steps have been taken to make the Christmas season happier for the children crippled and underprivileged local children for whom the club has been acting as godfather.

President Roy L. Kent has delegated a special member to be each child's Santa Claus. This member is to visit the child to whom he has been assigned and ascertain just what sort of present would be the most appropriate in his particular case. In addition, he is to get from the child's parents certain information as to the child's physical status, that will enable the club to determine what may be done to better the patient's condition.

A contribution has been made by each club member to go into a fund for the purchase of these Christmas gifts, and the fund has been turned over to a committee composed of the four new Rotarians—John Huntley, Edward Nisile, J. A. Newton and Rube

SUGGEST BUDGET FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Sum of $525,000 Is Needed For Grammar Grades, Estimate Made

Expansion of grammar school facilities to keep pace with the growth of Glendale was discussed informally last night in the office of the board of education by the committee of fifteen citizens appointed by this board at the suggestion of the recent grammar school mass meeting.

In order to put the schools in a satisfactory condition, a budget of $525,000 was suggested. It was believed that the expenditure of this sum would take care of the district for two or three years provided the present high school plant becomes available next year as a junior high school. The present housing capacity of the district is now only about $449,000, according to Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, who emphasized the fact that the proposed budget would have to be cut down to this figure.

Name Committee

A committee to consider the revision of this budget was appointed as follows: W. C. Wattles, Mrs. Myrtle Buckman, H. V. Henry, Harold L. Adams and Mrs. W. R. Wichert.

The establishment of a school in Verdugo Canyon was discussed briefly and the following committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of having a site donated from the F. P. Newport company: John L. Bolen, O. M. Newby and F. E. Wilkinson.

A petition was received by the board of education last night from a number of parents requesting the enlargement of the Magnolia school so that their children would not have to cross Brand boulevard in order to reach the Cerritos school. The following committee was appointed to investigate this subject: J. W. Everington, Ernest J. Morgan, Mrs. O. W. Esselman and Peter L. Perry.

Those Attending

W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the mass meeting, was chosen chairman of the committee. Eleven of its members were present, as follows: Harold L. Adams, 153 South Pacific avenue; Mrs. Myrtle Buckman, 1141 Winchester street; H. V. Henry, 353 Pioneer drive; Francis E. Wilkinson, 1140 Stanley avenue; William C. Wattles, 1218 South Glendale avenue; Peter L. Perry, 614 East Acacia avenue; O. M. Newby, 803 North Pacific avenue; O. G. Thompson, 618 Glenwood road; Mrs. E. S. McKee, 150 West Chestnut street; John L. Bolen, 122 Wabasso way; James W. Everington, 531 North Louise street; and Mrs. W. R. Wichert, 1141 East Harvard street.

Monthly Dinner for Church Funds Held

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church, Eagle Rock, held their customary all day business meeting at the church on East Colorado boulevard Thursday, December 14. At noon they served a fine dinner, southern style, to a large number of hungry guests.

The dinners are given once a month in the annex for the purpose of raising funds toward building a new church. They hope to accomplish the desired result some time during the next year.

Church Women Open Bazaar Tomorrow

The ladies of the Congregational church, Eagle Rock, announce that everything is in readiness for their bazaar which will open promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Many more nice and attractive things have been placed in the booths during the past few days, so at the present time they are crowded to overflowing.

The ladies are making plans to relieve the hunger of any number of visitors, and guarantee a most satisfactory feeling for everyone who is fortunate enough to have dinner with them Saturday.

Sure Death Course Taken by Suicide

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Lorraine Porter, a pretty 21-year-old beauty specialist, was found dying from mercury poisoning in her apartment early today. She had taken more than 20 tablets. She died shortly afterward.

"Please let me die" were her last words.

A note on a table said: "Why did he promise to marry me?"

Mother, Son Are Killed; Home Burned

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The bodies of Mrs. Mary Kapello, 36, and her son, Fred, 9, who had been shot to death and then brutally knifed, were discovered early today by firemen who found their Coney Island home in flames.

Indications were that the slayer had set fire to cloak his crime.

EAGLE ROCK MAN GIVEN HONOR BY L. A. MUSEUM

Hanson Puthuff Selected to Represent This District At Art Display

The many friends of Hanson Puthuff were showering congratulations upon him today when it was learned that he had been selected by a vote of the advisory committee of the Los Angeles museum to represent this district in the second annual traveling exhibition of western painters, under the auspices of the Western association of museum directors. Seventeen other artists of California will be associated with Mr. Puthuff in the exhibition.

The appointment was made in recognition of Mr. Puthuff's excellent and recognized ability and is considered quite an honor. Eagle Rock citizens feel equally honored in having one of their pioneer artists represented on such a group.

Mr. Puthuff has lived in Eagle Rock many years and during that time has produced and exhibited many beautiful paintings that have carried off first or second honors. His exhibits in the art collection at the Woman's club today attracted much attention.

NEW PICTURE WILL BE PRESENTED AT P-T-A SHOW

'Child Thou Gavest Me' to Be Shown at Eagle Rock Tonight

Plunging into the lagoon in Westlake Park, Los Angeles, recently, an unidentified tourist "rescued" Richard Hedrick, juvenile swimming wonder of Los Angeles, and for his "bravery" received the maledictions of Director John M. Stahl and his staff, who were filming the boy's aquatic struggles for the "Child Thou Gavest Me," a First National attraction which will be shown at the P-T-A Community Picture show tonight.

The stranger was strolling along the water's edge when he heard a shout, followed by a large splash. Noticing only that a curly headed little boy was floundering about in the lagoon, he tore off his coat and dove in to the rescue. In response to the unmistakable rage from the group about the movie camera, the man apologized profusely upon bringing the boy to shore, explaining he was a stranger and unused to seeing such sensational conduct as a part of a person's working day.

Eagle Rock Visitor Invents New Pump

Harry M. Hall of Wilcox, Ariz., has been in Eagle Rock this week at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. I. Ong.

Mr. Hall is in California for the purpose of interesting capital in a pump he has recently invented and hopes to place on the market. The inventor claims it will be of great benefit to those who wish to pump water for irrigation and other purposes. It is constructed in such manner as to do away with the leather sucker, which, in most cases, wears out easily and costs something each time to replace.

Mr. Hall also claims that his invention shows a higher percentage of efficiency and a greater saving of power over other pumps now on the market. Local people were much interested in the invention and could readily see its good qualities.

Eagle Rock Locals POSSIBLY YOU

A dollar bill will do wonders Saturday at the Gift Shop in Eagle Rock, conducted by the Parent-Teachers' association, say the ladies in charge, and many a little girl will undoubtedly be made happy Christmas morning when she receives one of our Keweenaw, rabbits or dressed dolls. "Yes, there are many nice things for the boys, too," stated Mrs. Wentworth, in charge of the shop. And we have mentioned only a few of the nice things for girls. Any little fellow in Eagle Rock may wake up Christmas morning and find a complete garage, an auto or perhaps some telescope blocks inside or outside his stocking. Who knows? Saturday is dollar day.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Warren of 156 Eddy avenue departed this morning with their son, Homer A., for Palmer Springs, where it is hoped he will regain his health. He has been ill for the past year. Mrs. Warren will remain with her son for some time and Mr. Palmer for the next ten days.

O. E. Thompson and family have recently moved from 131 West Myrtle street and are now very nicely located in their new home.

W. M. Duncan has recently rented a room at the rear of the Security and Trust Savings bank and will open a barber shop. He expects to be ready for business Saturday next. Mr. Duncan will have a special chair for the kiddies.

Mrs. Carl H. Phinney has returned to her home at 131 North Fairmont avenue after a delightful week-end visit at the family cottage at Laguna.

Proceedings Against Daugherty on Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Decried by those who originated the charges, the impeachment hearings against Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty got under way again today in a cloud of uncertainty as to how long they would continue.

Neither Representative Oscar Keller, Republican of Minnesota, nor Jackson Ralston, his attorney, the chief prosecutors of the attorney-general, were present. They charged the committee with conducting "a whitewash of Daugherty and refused to take any further part in the proceedings."

SOCIAL EVENTS

WOMEN'S UNION IN MEET
The Women's Union of the Baptist church held their all-day meeting at the church yesterday. The morning was devoted to sewing.

A bounteous luncheon was served at midday by the women of District 3, in charge of Mrs. J. Detweiler.

In the afternoon a very entertaining and instructive program was given, opened by a solo. Mrs. Park Arnold rendered this number, accompanied by Mrs. Wannanott. Mrs. Graham, a missionary on furlough from Bombay, India, district, then gave a vivid account of some of the highlights of her twenty-four years of service there. The program was concluded by a piano solo, Mrs. Ray Bentley playing and Mrs. Roger Bentley and her little girl reading "A Mother's Prayer."

SAYS FAREWELL TO CLASS
Mrs. J. P. Thompson, who has served as president of the Lydia class of the First Presbyterian church, bade farewell to the class members yesterday afternoon at the meeting at the home of Mrs. Howard M. Lennox at Pacific avenue and Sixth street. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson leave tomorrow for their former home in Philadelphia, Pa., where they will remain. They have lived in Glendale for two years, residing on Orange Grove avenue.

Mrs. M. Ball was elected to the presidency to succeed Mrs. Thompson.

As a parting gift to Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. W. E. McCormick on behalf of the class, presented her with an artistic framed motto.

Y CLUB LEADERS MEET
The leaders of the Y. M. C. A. clubs met last night for dinner at the home of Secretary Rex C. Kelley at 1109 North Louise street.

The guests were the following: E. P. Knapp, state Y. M. C. A. secretary for the Glendale type of work; E. P. Thomas, T. E. Stevenson, W. E. Stevenson, H. Rasmus, T. M. Rogers, Edward Schlotzhauer, Harold Majors, F. J. Gosser, W. E. Boyd, Glenn Todd, G. E. Murphy, Gordon Mize.

MISSION SOCIETY MEETS
The meeting of the Foreign Mission society of the church, presented by the church which was held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. C. C. Carroll of 320 Burnett street.

Rev. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue has been confined to his home for the past ten days with a slight illness.

Attorney James F. McBryde, whose offices are in the Central building, left last night for Sacramento on business. He expects to return within the next few days.

E. D. Hamlin, of 315 North Louise street, and D. W. Hepburn, of 635 North Howard street, business partners, are leaving today for a brief trip to Santa Paula.

Mr. and Mrs. Clauson are recent arrivals from Indiana, who came to Glendale in September and have decided to remain permanently. They have just purchased a home at 1133 San Rafael avenue.

The voluntary choir of the Casa Verdugo M. E. Church, are rehearsing a cantata, "The Everlasting Light," which will be presented at the church Christmas Eve. It is directed by Mrs. John W. Cotton and W. F. Blaikie.

Owen Goodman of 645 North Central avenue who has been in the northern part of the state for several months, as representative of the Southern California Fruit exchange, is planning to spend his Christmas vacation in Glendale.

Chapter BA, P. E. O., will hold their children's meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. W. Preston, 330 North Jackson street. The children of the members will be guests and gifts are to be collected for charity purposes.

W. W. Whitmore of Denver who has been the guest of his sister Mrs. W. C. Wodke of 1128 San Rafael avenue for the past week has gone to San Diego where he will be joined by his wife. They plan to return to Glendale for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Thompson, who have been living at 800 East Grove street, leave tomorrow by train for Philadelphia, on an extended trip. Mr. Thompson, who has been in the building business here for two years, has interests in the east that compel the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Macgregor, of 430 West John avenue, are both now practically recovered from the serious automobile accident they had some weeks ago, in which their machine turned over, hurling them through the sedan top. Mr. Macgregor has been out several times, and his wife once or twice. Their car was so badly damaged that they found it necessary to have an entire new body put on.

George, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Peterson, of 1236 South Maryland avenue, has now had the last of the twenty-one serum treatments given him by Dr. Young, as a safeguard against ill results from the dog bite he received November 16, and is pronounced immune. This dog, which bit several other children in the neighborhood, was destroyed by a policeman so effectively that it was impossible to examine him for rabies.

Miss Hope Stuart, 732 North Brand boulevard, gave a dinner party last night for the members of the T. N. T. club. It is a club formed by several Los Angeles girls, all of whom are employed by a Los Angeles paper. Those who attended were Misses Marjorie and Helen Perry, Isabel Ware, Henrietta Kelley and Olympia Heep; Mrs. Millat, and the hostess.

Aviation Meeting Will Be Held Here

Plans are under way by the Chamber of Commerce for calling a convention in Glendale of all interests in the state interested in aviation, according to an announcement made this morning by James Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the convention, Mr. Rhoades said, will be to stimulate the possibilities of Glendale becoming the "air port" of southern California. He said the meet will probably be held the first of the year.

AUTOS IN COLLISION
Glendale avenue near Monterey road was the scene of a collision about noon yesterday between automobiles driven by Arthur A. Roach of 1108 Monterey road, who was going north, and M. C. Packard of 1009 Northwestern avenue, Los Angeles, who was turning around in the street. Fenders and running boards were damaged.

E. F. SANDERS TO TALK
E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker tonight at the annual meeting of the Corona, Calif., Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Sanders expects to return to Glendale immediately after the session.

GIVE HER A ROYAL

Common Sense and Christmas

Christmas is supposed to be a time of sentiment, expressed by custom, through a bestowal of gifts. Not supposed to be much common sense mixed up with it. But a properly proportioned mixture of sentiment and common sense should go well—very well. A ROYAL Electric Cleaner, for example, would make itself and its giver appreciated every day for years. Plenty of sentiment in that. A ROYAL Electric Cleaner keeps any home healthily clean, from cellar to garret. It keeps the home happier that way. Plenty of common sense in that.

You're certainly going to have an electric cleaner some time. Might as well make it Christmas, 1922. And you might as well make it the best cleaner while you're doing it.

CHAOS IN EUROPE DRAWING TO END

Reparations Controversy to Be Settled; U. S. to Take Big Part

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A final show-down, in which America's voice is bound to play an important part, is imminent in the long standing reparations controversy that has kept Europe almost constantly embroiled for four years.

The exact part which the United States will play in the settlement is yet to be determined. It has formed the chief subject of cabinet discussion for several weeks, and was uppermost in the minds of President Harding and his cabinet when they met again today.

It is unlikely, however, that any definite line of American procedure will be determined upon until Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, arrives in Washington the last of this month, fresh from conference with the allied premiers.

How gravely the president and his advisers regard the situation, in the light of recent developments, may be drawn from the fact that Colonel Harvey has been summoned to return home for the first time since he went abroad.

President Harding is being urged to make a clear-cut statement of America's position toward the whole controversy embraced in the reparations muddle and the question of international war debts. Such a statement, some of his cabinet advisers believe, would have the effect of clarifying the issues and would afford the basis upon which a fresh start could be made toward getting order out of the chaos that now exists abroad.

Pronouncements Named

Such a pronouncement of American policy probably would include:

1.—The United States regards the questions of reparations and international war debts as two distinctly separate propositions and must be dealt with as such, so far as this country is concerned.

2.—Not being a recipient of German reparations, the United States is interested in the question only insofar as it affects the general health and welfare of Europe.

3.—The United States, however, does consider that reparations should be scaled down to a point where Germany can pay and still keep her head above the economic waters that now threaten to engulf her.

4.—The United States would look with distinct disfavor upon military occupation of the Ruhr by France.

5.—Should reparations be scaled down commensurately with Germany's ability to pay, the American government would be disposed to look favorably upon the participation of private American banking interests in a gigantic international loan to Germany to stabilize the mark and enable Germany to get on her feet.

U. S. to Oppose Loan

6.—The American government itself will not participate in any joint international loan to Germany, considering that $11,000,000,000 in United States government funds are now "frozen" in Europe with no country except Great Britain making any real effort to pay.

7.—The United States will not and cannot consider any proposition looking to general cancellation of war debts, but is willing to consider liberal terms by which Europe can discharge her obligations to the United States and at the same time rehabilitate herself economically.

Those are the present tenets of the present proposal, it is revealed in official quarters to International News Service.

The projected international loan of $1,500,000,000 to Germany by private bankers has been discussed by J. P. Morgan, Secretary of State Hughes, and there is reason to believe they are substantially in accord that the American bankers shall not participate in any such loans unless reparations are toned down to a point where Germany can pay.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover took a report to the cabinet today that Germany's plight is desperate; that actual starvation faces the German nation unless something is done to restore the mark to some fractional part of its old purchasing power.

Widen San Fernando Road. Petition signed by property owners on San Fernando Road between Los Feliz Road and Pacific avenue, asking that San Fernando Road be widened from 66 feet to 86 feet, was read, and on motion of Councilman Stephenson, referred to City Engineer and City Attorney to draft the necessary proceedings.

Extension of Time. On motion of Councilman Davis, request of the Los Angeles Paving Company for an extension of sixty days on their contract for the improvement of Los Feliz Road, was granted.

Thirty-Three Acre Purchase. Communication from Roy L. Kent in relation to the purchase of the thirty-three acre property, was on motion ordered filed.

Communication from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce commending the Council upon their action, was read and ordered filed.

Winifred F. Marr. Communication from Winifred F. Marr was read and ordered filed.

Patterson Avenue Park. On motion of Councilman Stephenson, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the plans prepared by H. F. Bryan, and now presented to the Council for the parking and improvement of the city park at the corner of Patterson avenue and Kenilworth avenue, commonly known as the Patterson Avenue park, are hereby adopted and approved as the plans to be followed in all improvements of said park.

Transfer Funds. On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the sum of $10,000 is hereby appropriated from the unappropriated reserve of the park playground and recreation center fund for the purpose of making improvements of the city park at the corner of Patterson avenue and Kenilworth avenue, commonly known as the Patterson Avenue park.

Bus Lines. On motion of Councilman Davis, the following resolution was adopted:

Be It Resolved, that this Council has granted no motor bus permits to any one recently in the city of Glendale and it is further resolved that we do not intend to grant any permits paralleling the proposed Glendale avenue line or other lines of the Glendale Montrose Railway company.

Improve Magnolia. On motion of Councilman Stephenson, city engineer and city attorney were instructed to draft the necessary proceedings for the improvement of Magnolia from Central avenue to San Fernando road with three-inch macadam, sidewalks, curbs and water pipe.

Demands. On motion of Councilman Lapham, demand in the sum of $21.50 was approved and ordered paid.

'Footloose' Craft to Cruise Pacific

MANILA.—A group of 15 Americans, residents of the Philippines, are planning to cross the Southern Pacific ocean in a Japanese fishing boat, which has been christened the "Footloose." They propose to make the trip in leisurely fashion, visiting the various island groups in the South Seas. Their destination is the western coast of South America. They propose to carry with them a newspaperman, who will be detailed to keep the log of the journey and write up the voyage for later publication. The boat is new and carries a trained crew. The skipper of the expedition, Captain Thomas Martin, of Cebu, is an old-time sailor who has had long experience in the Southern Seas. The expedition will probably start this month.

Man Never Received Mail; Goat Ate It

JOLIET, Ill.—This billygoat gets the postal authorities' "nanny."

For weeks the mail of Joe Erjavic had been vanishing from his front doorstep. Time and again he complained to the postoffice officials. A guard was set. Finally the secret service men caught Joe's billygoat munching on Joe's mail.

The penalty is $1000 fine and three years in prison. Illinois prisons don't have stalls, and that is where the "nanny" enters.

Dublin Not as Gay as Capital of Old

DUBLIN—How changed Dublin is to what it was ten years ago! The Irish capital used to be one of the gayest cities in Europe. There was no unemployment, there were no strikes, no shooting, bombing and anarchy.

Nowadays the Irish capital's streets and principal buildings are a heap of ruins. The streets are unsafe day as well as night; at any moment anywhere there may be an attack upon the Free State troops by de Valera's followers. It is a curious fact that from such a method of warfare it is not the troops or their attackers who suffer most, but the peaceful citizens.

Day after day one hears the mournful tunes of the bands playing the funeral march for some brave Irishman who has been killed by the hands of the British or the Black and Tans, but by his own fellow countrymen. Robberies at the revolver's point occur almost daily in every street. At night the snap of the sniper's rifle and the rattle of the machine gun keep good Irishmen from their hard-earned rest. Such is Dublin today—a city fast drifting to anarchy.

Three beautiful lakes, covering several acres, have been discovered in southern Colorado in the land of sand dunes. A forest ranger of the San Isabel national forest found buried cairns, stone bowls, carved pedestals and arrowheads.

Twenty-five thousand dollars was paid for a first folio of Shakespeare in London recently. A rare first edition of Gray's "Elegy" brought $3000.

Smashes Door That Slams in His Face

CINCINNATI, O. — Thousands of us have felt the same way about it, but Eugene Halmi, Norwood, O., "obeyed that impulse" the other night, when a street car conductor slammed the folding doors in his face and gave the belated two jerks, and smashed in the glass panel with his fist. He agreed in police court next morning to pay for a new glass, and the judge dismissed the case.

Mistakes Burglar for Guest of Home

ST. LOUIS—Thomas Scott, visiting at the home of Oscar Maxwell, was awakened from his sleep by a bewildered man, who said he was in the wrong house and was unable to find his way out. Scott obligingly escorted the stranger to the front door.

The stranger had burglarized the house of clothing valued at more than $40.

Says Boys Endanger Lives Chasing Cars

CINCINNATI—There will be no more "lifts" for schoolboys on their way home in the afternoon, if Miss Lulu Adler, director of the juvenile protective association of Cincinnati, succeeds in getting the action she seeks from the safety director of the city. She says that boys are endangering their lives by running after motorists and asking rides.

Has No Wife and No Hope; Kills Self

WOMMACK, Mo.—Life without a mate caused Paul Johnson, a farmer, to end his life. Before committing the last act of his life he shaved himself and cleaned up his home. Then he wrote a note saying that his inability to get a wife made life unbearable. He requested that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered to the "four winds." He took poison.

Wild Animals Cause Mortalities in India

CALCUTTA—Wild animals and venomous snakes are still causing enormous mortalities in India. Latest reports show that during the last year in British India there were 22,600 persons killed by wild animals. Tigers were responsible for 1454 deaths, leopards 560, wolves 556, boars 69, elephants 70, hyenas 10. The lives lost from snakebite total 19,396.

IMMIGRANTS OF BETTER AVERAGE

Operation of Present Law Brings More From Nordic, Fewer From Slavic

WASHINGTON. — A marked change for the better in the type of immigrants now entering the United States, and the eradication of those difficulties which were most evident during the first few months of the present immigration law are noted by the Department of Labor, in a statement dealing with the accomplishments of the "three-per-cent-quota legislation."

Attention is called to the fact that approximately 500,000 aliens have been kept out of the country by the act during the last fiscal year, and that the percentage of immigration from northern and western Europe, as compared with that from southeastern Europe, has increased since pre-war years. In 1914, only 15 per cent of European immigration was of the so-called Nordic stock, generally considered by immigration authorities as more desirable than the Slavic type, and during the last year this had increased to 36 per cent.

Decrease in Numbers
The countries of northern and western Europe, it is stated, have, however, been slower to take advantage of their full quota allowances than those of southern and eastern Europe and Asiatic Turkey, which sent immigrants up to 95 per cent of their quotas, as compared with the 46 per cent sent by the northern countries. There has been a great decrease in the number admitted to the United States from Europe and Asiatic Turkey under the new law only 219,166 as compared with 1,081,012 for 1913-14.

The fact that immigration of the older type, or Nordic stock, has increased from 15 to 36 per cent is viewed by immigration officials as "a pretty clear indication that the law is accomplishing what it was intended to accomplish in this respect."

Difficulties in the administration of the law are decreasing. Steamship companies and foreign officials show a greater willingness to co-operate with the United States government in keeping the number of immigrants within the proper quotas. It is pointed out that about 4200 persons sought admission in excess of the quotas of their respective countries during the last year, and that about 2508 of those were admitted "in the interests of humanity." Only 1662 persons actually were rejected.

SPORTS

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

California is going to try out polo on a schedule similar to that used by collegiate football conferences. Play will begin the last week of December and will be continued up to April. There will be at least seven teams, and probably two or three more before the final schedule of play is arranged.

The teams already entered are those of Coronado, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Riverside, Del Monte, Midwick and the U. S. Cavalry team of the Monterey Presidio. A schedule has been made so that all of the teams will play on each other's grounds.

Coronado is making particular preparations for an active polo season and many of the best of the eastern players are likely to make this southern resort during the progress of the season their temporary home. As a practice and playing field, there is none superior to the Coronado layout, which has been pronounced about the best on the coast.

The Midwick team was rated the best team on the Pacific coast last season and the other clubs are making a valiant effort to dislodge them. Riverside is anticipating a strong combination and looks forward to being a contender for first honors. After the playing of the three months' schedule, a championship series will be staged probably during three weeks in April.

To the frost-gripped east it may seem a bit odd that California's active golf season starts in right after the start of the New Year, dates already having been set for the first of the various California championships with the first week in January.

As this is what is termed the rainy season in California, courses are all at their best as the result of the season's rains which precludes the necessity of artificial watering, one of the big items of expense during the six months when rain is an unknown quantity.

Is wrestling getting rougher? This is a question that San Francisco fans are asking themselves as the result of the series of injuries that have been sustained by various matmen in recent matches that have been held in that city, which, by the way, has become quite a center for the matmen. In the latest match, one of the wrestlers broke a rib.

Big League Players Are Changing Hands

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Baseball trades were freely rumored about the Hotel Commodore where the joint session of the National-American leagues is held. It was reported that the New York Yankees had practically completed negotiations for the purchase of Jake May, star Southpaw pitcher of the Vernon club of the Pacific coast league. Only minor details remain uncompleted.

Frank Chance, newly signed manager of the Red Sox, today took the first steps to strengthen his team. He signed Duffy Lewis, present manager of the Salt Lake club, as scout on the Pacific coast and has also appointed as scout, Hughie Duffy, manager of the Red Sox last year. In addition, Jimmy Archer, famous catcher of the Chicago Cubs when Chance was leading the team, has been signed to coach the Red Sox pitchers.

Johnny Evers Will Quit Game, Rumor

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A report is current in baseball circles today that Johnny Evers will retire from the game. Evers may be appointed a deputy commissioner of boxing in New York. It is said he was assistant to Kid Gleason in handling the Chicago White Sox last season.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Willis L. Hunter, former amateur golf champion of Great Britain, who now is visiting the Pacific Coast, predicts that, eventually, that rim of the continent will figure in the annals of national golf, just as it now does in tennis.

His prediction is based on the fact that the game can be played continuously throughout the year, particularly in California. "California," he said, "possesses a tremendous advantage in this respect." It also was his opinion that greater attention was being paid to the game in this country than in England.

The betless racing that is to be tried out in San Francisco at the Tanforan track by a coterie of rich horsemen who have taken the motto "Sports for sports' sake," now believe that they will be able to carry on with a minimum of salaries for track officials.

With few exceptions they expect their own membership to act in the various capacities without remuneration and, in this way, be independent of the percentages accruing to a track from the gambling angle.

There is no question that Tanforan is one of the most beautiful and best equipped tracks in the country and a mint of money has recently been put into its improvement by the men who love horse-racing and believe it can be conducted without the usual accompaniment of book making.

The experiment will be watched with interest in all sections of the country.

Whatever reputation Babe Ruth has as a batsman comes purely of his ability to knock out a home run at frequent intervals for, as an all around performer with the willow, he ranks only 32nd in the American league.

Many critics have said that the instant Ruth loses his eye for the main chance of knocking a ball over the fence he will slip into mediocrity and not be heard of.

According to reports, Ruth is taking care of himself in order to be fit when the time comes for the preliminary training season. He was in a bad way last season and a repetition of the sequence of his delinquencies would probably spell ruin for the holder of the home run record for a season in the major leagues.

Of course, no one knows what he may be doing sub rosa, but if his many protestations are sincere he can do no other than play fair with those who are the means of his success.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—First it was Cornwallis at Yorktown; next Robert E. Lee at Appomattox courthouse; then the envoys of W. Hohenzollern at Versailles, and now Byron Bancroft Johnson of the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Commodore.

Figuratively, Mr. Johnson marched into the joint meeting of the American and National leagues yesterday and laid down his arms. It was a token of surrender to the duly vested authority of Judge Landis, but unlike the general run of tokens, it was not mute. Mr. Johnson is never mute.

He came to the meeting unwillingly but with the stated intention of making all points an issue of power between himself and Landis. He departed beaten at every turn.

First off, he called the American league meeting for Chicago, in contravention to agreement, and even the loyal five of Cleveland, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Washington and Detroit turned against him in forcing his reconsideration.

Then, in turn, he proposed that a zoning system be instituted to curtail home run hitting and that the National league clean up its alleged supply of dirty linen resulting from gambling in ball parks and the covering up of discredited players. Only a previously expressed disapproval of the plan prevented Johnson from demanding that the major leagues repudiate the draft agreement, in toto.

The zoning plan was not even discussed at the meeting, according to Leslie O'Connor, secretary to Judge Landis, and Johnson's disavowal of the soiled condition of official shirt fronts was listened to without comment. When he had finished they turned to the next item of business just as though nothing had happened. On only one point was Johnson sustained and that was his attack on gambling.

But his crowning defeat came with the adoption of an amendment whereby all joint meetings may be held in the future when ever a quorum of the sixteen clubs can be mustered. The Senegambian in the woodpile here is that the National league and the insurgent three of the American, New York, Boston and Chicago, can hold a joint meeting any time Judge Landis cares to call one, regardless of whether Johnson and his followers attend or remain aloof.

Landis' position is stronger now than ever before. There are few, if any baseball men who are not in complete sympathy with his administration and Johnson will do well to capitulate gracefully. He has a snug little job at a small salary as president of the American league and life, for him, could be worse.

Virginia Team Ready For San Diego 'Grid'

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 15.—West Virginia's twenty football players who will meet Gonzaga university at San Diego, Cal., on Christmas day, were in top form today.

Two days of fairly strenuous training after a ten-day lay-off has brought the men back to the pink of condition. Cold weather and a frozen field prevents the toughest kind of workouts at present. In a heart-to-heart talk with team members, Coach Spears warned them the Gonzaga outfit was no "soft picking" and to beware of over-confidence and think less of the coast trip as a pleasure junket.

William Tilden Has Another Operation

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—One more incision had been cut off the middle finger of William T. Tilden II, world tennis champion. It was learned today in an effort to check the infection that threatens to eclipse his star forever from the courts.

The finger is now nearly down to the second joint. "Bill," despite his loss, is optimistic and is laying plans for future matches. He expects to start playing in Chicago next June, and to make a trip to the Pacific coast playing exhibition games.

Irate Minister Says Town's Wide Open

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—Unless "wide open" conditions here are checked Rev. Thomas C. Sykes, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, says he will take the matter to the governor. Vice, gambling and bootlegging flourish openly, the pastor charges. Voters in Macomb county, where Mt. Clemens is located, evinced wet sympathies at the election November 7, when they defeated the Rev. Cates Rutledge, Republican candidate for sheriff, by almost two to one. Rutledge promised to close every blind pig and put every gambling house out of business in Macomb county.

Duke's Brother May Appear in Chicago

HONOLULU.—Sam Kahana-moku, brother to the world famous Duke, accompanied by Pua Kealoha, who recently tied Johnny Weissmuller, in the fifty-yard back-stroke, in Honolulu, probably will compete in Chicago next February in a swimming meet to be staged under the auspices of the Illinois Athletic Club. This announcement was made by W. T. Rawlins, former president of the A. A. U. body here.

Strangler Lewis Is Winner From Zbyszko

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, heavyweight wrestling champion, retained his title in a finish match with Stanislaus Zbyszko here last night. The Pole won the first fall but the champion gained the last two, punishing the challenger severely with toe holds and headlocks.

Pumpkin Jam New Parisian Delicacy

PARIS—Try some pumpkin jam for your Christmas dinner. The recipe comes from Paris, where there are no Pilgrims' Day celebrations, but where good eating is the rule.

First, peel the pumpkin and remove the inner skin and seeds. Weigh the pulp, and cut it into very thin slices. For six pounds of pumpkin take five pounds of sugar, the gratings of four or five lemons, a stick of vanilla and a small cup of rum, if one can be found. Cook the mixture in a jam-basin over a slow fire for one hour or more, taking good care to stir it often. French people, who know little about the mysteries and delights of the famous American pumpkin pie, declare that this jam will be certain to please Puritan palates.

A good "savory" will add a nice touch to the dinner if a wise choice is made. It should be a delicate morsel a "bonne bouche," piquant and tantalizing, easily eaten and yet leaving a definite impression as the climax of a good dinner.

This is served in little puff, pasty boats made in small molds. They can be filled with all sorts of things, such as anchovies, eggs

Old Virginia Hotel Now Being Torn Down

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va.—The "Old White," historic Greenbrier county hotel here will soon be no more. It is being torn down. The magnificent structure, "The Greenbrier," erected several years ago, has supplanted it and its usefulness is gone. The "Old White," in its day, was one of the most famous hotel resorts in America, its history is filled with romantic lore. Some famous personages of the last century visited White Sulphur Springs, and in the colonial days the "Old White" was the summer's mecca for the aristocracy of the south.

It was in its barroom that the far-famed mint julep was first concocted, which was later exploited and credited to the goateed Kentucky colonels. It was in this barroom, reached by a spiral stairway, fragrant with mint and French brandy, that the governor of North Carolina made the historic observation to the governor of South Carolina.

Paving in City to Have Rubber Surface

AKRON, Ohio—If an Akron project is carried out as suggested Broadway, Piccadilly, Champs des Elysees and Unter den Linden will have a chance to sit up and take notice.

It has been proposed that four or five of the huge rubber industries donate enough of their product to pave Main street, at least to the south approach of the new $3,000,000 viaduct recently dedicated.

The idea has been suggested by E. E. Helm, in charge of the industrial department of the chamber of commerce. His slogan is: "Pave the main thoroughfare of Akron with rubber, and you will automatically convert our community into a rubber city which will justify its name."

Letters to this effect have been sent by Helm to all the leading rubber manufacturing plants in the city. The plan is said to be receiving favorable consideration.

The United States department of commerce, in its bulletin of October, gives information of results achieved in experiments along this line in England and suggests that rubber roads be established in America.

TOTALS FROM COUNTIES SHOW HOW VOTE WENT FOR GOVERNOR

Friend W. Richardson Carried Fifty-Four Counties; Result of Justice Contest

The following statements show the vote cast for governor and associate justices at the general election held November 7, 1922.

They have been carefully compiled from figures submitted to the undersigned by the county clerks and registrars of voters of every county in the state except Del Norte county, for which county the figures furnished by a press association have been adopted.

It will be interesting to note that Friend W. Richardson carried fifty-four counties and that Woolwine carried only four counties, viz: El Dorado, Mariposa, San Francisco and Solano. Richardson's plurality over Woolwine is 228,794.

Judge Seawell defeated Justice Sloane by 4,798 and Justice Shurtliff by 15,735.

The figures given may be changed slightly when the secretary of state has completed his tabulations but for all practical purposes they are correct.

Ex-Veterans Don't Want French Medals

AKRON, Ohio.—Greek ex-servicemen living in this community, at a number of recent informal discussions, have considered the plan of returning to France all medals of honor received from that nation. This step, which probably will be taken soon, is to be in retaliation for France's attitude in the Near East.

About 25 of the colony of 200 Akron Greeks possess French war crosses and medals for service during the Great War. John Petrou, in charge of the movement, has announced that the idea will be laid before the local branch of the American Legion in the hope that the Legion would endorse the return of the decorations and thus make the rebuke appear as if coming directly from Akron veterans.

New "dead lines" including both Wall street and Maiden Lane comprising the financial and jewelry centers, have been laid down for the protection of merchants and shoppers in New York city. Men with criminal records will be arrested on sight.

Japs in Honolulu Spending Much

HONOLULU—Japan is in the throes of a wild orgy of spending and loafing, according to S. Yamamoto, president of the Motoshige Shoten, one of the largest Japanese wholesale establishments in Honolulu, who has just returned from a business trip to the Orient.

Commodities have reached the peak of high prices, and the laboring class of Japan is receiving exorbitant pay. Carpenters in Tokyo, according to Yamamoto, receive from four to five yen ($2 to $2.50) a day and refuse to work over five hours. They start to work at 9 o'clock, rarely getting to the job before 10, and at 4 o'clock they quit.

Profiteering on a huge scale is practiced by virtually every wholesale establishment in the islands, says Yamamoto, some houses realizing from 50 to 100 per cent profit.

Japan must economize or face disaster, says Yamamoto.

JAP-CHINA ROWS OVER SHANTUNG

Japanese Demand for Finest Building for Consulate Called Preposterous

By THOMAS MELOY
For International News Service.
PEKING—Bitter controversy has arisen between the Chinese and Japanese committees for the return of public property in Shantung. The Chinese allege that the Japanese demands are preposterous and refuse to yield further. The question in dispute is the provision of the Shantung treaty, section 2, in which the Japanese reserve the right to retain sufficient buildings for their consulate and such additional ones as are "required of the Japanese community, including public schools, shrines and hospitals."

For consulate the Japanese have demanded the former residence of the Tsingtau governor, which is considered the finest building in the city. They also want the courthouses for their consular courts, a special residence for the consul-general, a residence for the consul and for each of the three vice consuls and adequate housing for the two under consuls, a dozen or more clerks, fifty police and special quarters for the police officials.

Claims of Chinese
The Chinese say that there never was a consulate in the history of China which occupied a fourth of this territory and that the property demanded runs into millions of dollars. Besides, they assert that the former government mansion must be occupied by the Chinese governor and they have offered the former Posts and Telegraphs building in its place.

The Japanese reply that their consulate in Tsingtau is something apart from other consulates and must overshadow others, so that the dignity of the Japanese Empire may be maintained. They also allege that the Posts and Telegraphs building had already been promised by them for Great Britain and that the Chinese should not embarrass them now by refusing.

Matter of Hospitals
Still a further controversy has arisen over the matter of hospitals. There are three hospitals in all—the former German hospital, a general hospital and a maternity home. The first is by far the best, and the Chinese have offered to concede the other two. But the Japanese also want it and point with pride to the fact that the equipment is now all Japanese and must in any case be purchased by China.

The former German equipment, both of this hospital and of several others of the public works, has been taken away by Japanese and their own substituted. China demands that the German property be restored. Japan says it belongs to her by virtue of the "spoils of war" and is met by the argument that these "spoils of war" are limited by the treaty of Versailles to thirty million dollars and this China is paying.

Home merchants make it a point to please you. There is satisfaction in buying in Glendale.

URGE U. S. FARM IDEA FOR EUROPE

Better Mechanical Equipment and Improved Social Conditions Talked

By H. K. REYNOLDS,
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON.—The European farmer has become a devotee and a master of modern American farm machinery, but he is finding that pretty red plows and patent binders from across the sea are failing to keep the boys and girls down on the farm.
Paris or Rome or London is ever so much more exciting than papa's new gasoline tractor or an electric churn.
So he is again turning to the United States for help—this time for ideas and methods and plans and instructions to make farm life more interesting for the rising generation.

When the International Institute of Agriculture met recently in Rome two important resolutions bearing upon the subject of the decreasing rural population were introduced by Mr. de Vuyst, the delegate from Belgium.

Look to America
One resolution said the institute should collect data regarding the organization and development of agricultural education and home economics teaching for boys and girls as carried on in different countries (principally the United States) and the other urged the amelioration of rural social and home conditions.
In discussing his first resolution before the assembly, M. de Vuyst described the boys' and girls' club work, as carried on in the United States, as a means of making farm life more attractive. "These clubs," he said, according to the official report of the meeting received here, "group the boys and girls—sometimes separately, sometimes together—with the idea of giving them instruction by demonstrations, which are followed by application on their part to the kitchen, garden or the barnyard. The children make their little personal profit from the work; they try to outdo their neighbors and thus become attached to farm work and find out with interest that they are capable of progress."

The second resolution of M. de Vuyst referred to a statement made in 1904 by the assistant secretary of agriculture of Canada to the effect that agriculture consisted at first of the study of the soil, the plants and animals of the farm, but that a few years previous a great discovery had been made; that on the farm there were not only beasts and machinery, but also a farmer—a farmer to be aided and studied as a man, a workman, an intellectual and social being. And more recently, according to the secretary, a still more sensational discovery had been made—"that this farmer had a wife and family and that the pivot of work on the farm was neither in the fields nor the barns, but between four walls of the house."

Better Farm Life
In addressing the institute, M. de Vuyst stressed the need for making the ownership of property easier for the farmer, the necessity for beautifying farm surroundings and making the rural home more comfortable and convenient, for bettering the lot of the farmer's wife and for introducing more mechanical and electrical devices to lessen the drudgery. Social life and recreation, public and private sanitation, roads and grouping of farm

Cruelty to Animal Vexes Kind Judge

DENVER—It is seldom that Juvenile Judge Ben Lindsey can not find sufficient mitigating circumstances to warrant leniency toward some member of the numerous youthful "gangs" that appear before him, but "turpentine" dogs is no sport to be encouraged in "Young America," he believes. For the first time in his twenty years on the juvenile bench Judge Lindsey last week sentenced an entire group of seven boys to the state reform school at Golden because they covered a stray dog with turpentine and then set it on fire.

The dog was discovered, suffering excruciating pain, and had to be shot by a state humane officer. buildings were other matters calling for improvement, according to the delegates.
American educational methods, as developed in the co-operative extension work of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges, were referred to repeatedly.
Extension work for women in this country was discussed in detail, as showing what could be done to better the farm home conditions in Europe.

Survivors of '49 Gold Rush to Meet

CHICAGO—There are at least two survivors of the '49 gold rush—George W. Ketchkiss, of Chicago, and Captain John Anderson of Sewickley, Pa.
Ketchkiss was recently notified of the death of John E. Kerr and then believed he was the last survivor of the gold "fever." Shortly afterward, however, he received a letter from Captain Anderson, who suggested that the two old-timers hold a reunion.
Captain Anderson was a cousin of William ("Buffalo Bill") Cody.

THE SEAL ANSWERS

When anyone says that the world isn't getting any better, or even daries to declare that it is getting wicker and more selfish, there are many ways to confute him.

Of course, we are very far from a world where life is clean and pleasant and happy for everyone, but we are not equally far from a world in which a woman was given the death sentence for stealing a loaf of bread for her starving child, in which lepers were cared for only by casual alms won by showing their sores, in which people were boiled in oil for holding different ideas about the way the Bible should be interpreted?

Or Go Get Some Just at this time of year could there be a simpler, more striking answer to any such cynical belief than to let a certain little bit of paper which I feel sure you have in your possession speak for itself?

I refer to the Christmas seal of the National Tuberculosis association.

A hundred, or even 50 years ago, what did the person who had tuberculosis and did not have any money do?

What Else Could He Do? Perfectly simple. He died. That was all there was for him to do. And while he was about the business of dying he probably infected several more people, who also found their course charted out for them with deadly simplicity.

What happens today to the person who has tuberculosis? No matter how poor he is he can be helped to save himself. And besides that he will be taught how to keep from infecting the children in his family.

And the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal is truly the seal and signet as well as one of the big financial supports of this work. In the last 17 years since the seal was first used the death rate from T. B. has been cut almost in half. As all work of this sort is cumulative and every person who is cured of T. B. means not only a life saved but a source of infection removed, that means that as the years go by T. B. may be actually stamped out.

It can be, for T. B. is a preventable disease. And it will be because civilized people in this day and generation are not willing to let the weak and unfortunate perish.

That's what I mean by the world getting better.

A Christmas Gift to Christ. The Christmas seal, bought and used, by millions of people is a silent testimonial to the fact that the world is growing every year more altruistic, more conscious of an obligation to help those who cannot help themselves.

The ideal of the "survival of the fittest" is slowly giving way to the Christian ideal that the strongest is always his brother's keeper.

Altruism is the strongest keynote of Christ's doctrine. It was the big vital new thing he had to give the world. If you consider Christmas the celebration of Christ's birthday and not simply a heathen holiday, could you give a better gift to Him than to place these little seals on all your letters at this season, or at the very least on all your Christmas letters and cards and packages?

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

I, I, I: MYSELF, I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME CHAPTER XXXVII

You know that little baby girl next door? Poor little mite. She has eczema on her face rather severely. You remember she is the daughter of my Daddy's and my Mama's dearest friends, and I am going to marry her when I grow up. Of course I am not certain about it yet for we may grow up with different tastes even though just at present they happen to be the same.

Our marriage has been considered very seriously by our families, but in the discussion of it I heard them say that though they would dearly love to keep us and not let other Mamas and Daddies have us, still it is possible we might not love each other enough to be joined in holy matrimony.

Furthermore, while they talk freely about the subject now, they have agreed never to mention it before us when we are old enough to understand. They say such talk makes children self-conscious and it sounds sort of silly to them to hear children talking about sweethearts and marrying and so forth. They say that we will have little friends and not little sweethearts until we are through college. That seems a long time to me.

But to get back to the eczema of Alice. (I love her name, don't you? I love it because it is the same as my adorable Grannie's.) It seems strange that she should have eczema for she has the same high grade human milk, made by her Mama for her alone, as I have. And the oddest thing is that instead of treating Alice our Doctor is treating her Mama. That is, Doctor is having Alice's Mama leave off different articles of food from her diet until she discovers which food is being transferred in her milk to the baby and irritating it.

It has been found out recently, that certain protein elements—that is, the muscle building elements, such as are found in egg albumen, meat, fish and, in smaller amounts, in fruits and vegetables—may not be digested by the baby. So they are absorbed undigested, and that makes the skin mucous membranes sensitive and will cause them to erupt. Then after the eruption, which itches very much, the scratching makes it worse and this causes secondary inflammatory changes.

So eczema has to be treated both internally and externally. Internally by finding out what foods are causing the trouble and omitting them from the Mama's diet, or the baby's if it is not breast fed. And externally by proper cleansing and soothing ointments kept on with bandages. I will tell you more about what my doctor says of this later.

Our doctor will have Alice's Mama first stop eating eggs, for they prove to be offenders in many cases. Then if Alice's skin does not clear up in a week Doctor will have Mama stop eating some other foods. Cocoa, chocolate, veal, cereals, strawberries and potatoes are some of the other foods which may be the irritating factor that causes eczema.

If there is no improvement, then baby may be taken to a laboratory specialist to be given the eczema protein test. A tiny portion of the purified protein of the different foods will be injected into her skin to see which causes a little inflammation reaction. That will be considered the offending food which must not be eaten.

Next week I shall tell you about the external treatment of eczema.

BEAUTY CHATS

ENCOURAGING OLD AGE

There are two ways of encouraging old age. One is not to care about yourself, and the other is to go about looking as though the world mistreated you. If you belong to the first sort, in my opinion you don't deserve what you won't work for—lasting youth—so you shouldn't get much sympathy. If you belong to the second sort—well, the world mistreats so many of us that it's almost a normal state of affairs, so why worry too much over it?

Real sorrow and real troubles breaking heart," is a good thing to cultivate. I'm not preaching, except from the point of view of the beauty doctor, who wants to see every woman with her lips curled half way into a smile, because this lifts droopy muscles and keeps the face young and the expression sweet. It keeps the digestion and the disposition sweet, too, and the whole reacts upon the appearance.

But most trials and sorrows are small—really they are, after all—and not worth the worry and grieving they get. Most of the people who go about with down drawn lips and morose expressions are bothering themselves about trifles and wearing away their youth and strength over nothing. A smile of even the most forced variety makes the face young and keeps it young—to say nothing of the good things it does to one's character!

All of which doesn't mean that you should go about with a Cheshire grin on your face all the time! I only mean—don't go about looking badly, looking glum—for that brings on age and wrinkles.

M. P.—All those short cracked hairs in the front of the head are only the natural result of constant curling. As long as you torture your hair into artificial waves it will go on splitting and breaking off and getting drier and drier.

Don't do it. Think how odd it looks anyway, with the hair of the back of the head a different shade, and glossy, long and straight! Simply stop using curling irons. Use a tonic to make the hair grow faster. As it will be hard to do up until it grows in again use a hair net to keep it looking nice and neat.

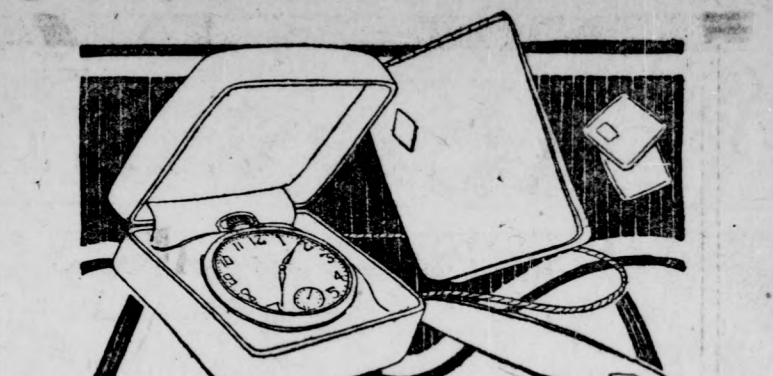

Jennie—Witch hazel is a very good astringent. This can be used after the face has been washed with soap. Rub some on the hands and rub it in, or put it on with a bit of cotton and let it dry. It will make the skin fine grained and help overcome wrinkles. It's delightful to use and refreshing. Of course, your stomach must be in good order and the bowels must be acting properly, or the skin will never be good.

Miss Q.—The eyelash stain washed off with water, so it must be used over again if you want the lashes darker. I advised your friend to use it rather than the eyebrow pencil because she smudged her skin with the grease of the other. Must you use anything? Few lashes really need touching up.

Tomorrow—Duty To Oneself

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Practical Housekeeping

By Florence Austin Chase

LITTLE EVERY DAY HELPS

Every housewife knows how hard it is in her small family to buy meats to advantage and to use trimmings and bones. Instead of trying to use them before they spoil, can them. They may be canned as stock or as soup, and all the meat that one does not wish to eat can be canned by itself.

Simmer the bones for so long that every bit of meat will come off with scraping. Put them on the fire with cold water and simmer so slowly that no rim of hardened albumen is around the top. Remove all the meat from bones, strain and place the plain broth in jars, or to the stock add diced vegetables as for making vegetable soup, season and sterilize as you do for other things you preserve in this manner. The principles of canning are precisely the same, varying only in such minor details as sugar or no sugar, and so on.

The beef that has boiled from the bones may be seasoned and made into meat balls, to be cooked in bacon fat, which will add to its flavor. It has lost through simmering most of what flavor it had. It may be made into a nice baked hash with rice, potato, or such bread crumbs as one has, and a bit of onion and good seasoning.

The extra meat that has been cooked only once you can pack into jars, cutting the meat into bits so it will fit into the glass closely and be more open to the heat of sterilizing. Turn enough water into the jars to fill the interstices, and then boil with the top on, but not fastened down, until the middle pieces are thoroughly heated. Meat must cook a considerable time because the heat takes an hour or so to penetrate the inner pieces. Then, before removing from the boiling water, snap down the cover and let the meat cool in the boiling water, as the water cools. Probably there will be some fat on the top. This is a preservative in itself.

When you have not enough left over meat to make a dish of itself, use it as a flavoring. Take the odd ends of salt pork or bacon that are left after slicing and add them to peas or beans for soup. Or take the odd ends and add to a batter and bake as meat biscuits, or place a layer of rice, crumbs or mashed potatoes, whichever you have, at the bottom of cups, and over that a layer of the minced meat, another layer like the first, wet it with water, stock, milk, tomato or gravy, whatever you have, and you will find the result when the contents of the cups are baked a very nice supper or breakfast dish.

They Say That

Northwestern university has a new system for the benefit of slow students. It involves a thorough inquiry into a student's previous school life, health and home conditions, and the help of a private tutor in cases which seem worth it.

The system may prove useful in keeping students in college who under a severe regime would be summarily dismissed after a few months. This may be wise, for many a slow student has proved more worth while to society eventually than his more brilliant fellows. But it points to the fact that many students have never learned how to study before they reached college and so have missed the main purpose of public school education.

This is not a matter of "home-work" entirely. Students who have to prepare all their lessons in school often know better how to study than those who are required to perform long tasks outside. It is a matter of learning to get to work promptly, to concentrate on the job in hand, to stick to it until it is finished.

Parents can help greatly by setting small home tasks and requiring their accomplishment with dispatch, undivided attention and accuracy. If home work is required by the school the child should have a proper place, good light and regular, uninterrupted time in which to do it.

The child who has not the chance to go to college needs training in how to study quite as much as the one who has the greater opportunity.

Kids Who Stay Out Late to Be Fined

TILTONVILLE, Ohio—Council has passed a curfew ordinance which provides that youngsters who are not off the streets by 8:30 p. m. may be fined from $1 to $10. The village fire department may install a siren to serve as a fire alarm and, also, as a curfew.

REVENUE SECTION OF SOUTH LEADS

Collector Goodcell Home From Capital; Secures Larger Staff

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell has returned from Washington, D. C., where he has been for the past month in conference with treasury officials regarding increases in office personnel and new quarters for the Los Angeles district.

Although collectors from many districts were in Washington on similar missions their figures did not compare with those of the Los Angeles district in size and growth and Collector Goodcell won out all down the line in the face of the fact that the department decided that other districts would have to get along with their present staffs.

"The Los Angeles districts' collections have placed Southern California in a class by itself and Treasury officials regard this section as one of the country's greatest producers of federal revenue," said Collector Goodcell.

While in the east, Collector Goodcell was present at a tryout of a new filing system for income tax accounts that was originated by Chief Deputy Riley, of the Los Angeles office. By orders of Commissioner Blair, the new system was installed at Raleigh, N. C. It worked out so well that Collector Goodcell was instructed to install the system here. It will require 540 steel files and jackets for 200,000 returns. Later on the Los Angeles system will be installed in every internal revenue office in the United States.

System Saves Millions Under the Riley system the government will be enabled to collect millions of dollars of income taxes at a minimum of administrative cost which is not possible under the system now in vogue. Each taxpayer will have a separate jacket and his return for each year will be placed in it. Under this system quick information may be given to the individual taxpayer. Later on this system will be extended to other departments of the government.

"The eyes of the east are focused on Southern California," declared Goodcell. "One of our best advertising assets in this section's wonderful growth as a producer of federal revenue and the fact that the Los Angeles office stands at the head of the list of the sixty-four revenue districts in percentage of collections for 1922 as against 1921."

Under the present administration improved business methods are being inaugurated in the internal revenue bureau which is the most extensive business enterprise on earth and it will be operated along modern business lines.

Collector Goodcell, while east, visited Chicago, Buffalo, New York, Pittsburgh, Washington, Nashville, Atlanta and Raleigh, N. C. In no section were business conditions in the Los Angeles class and easterners admitted as much, he declared.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

When they had come deep enough into the concealment of the foliage to make discovery from the outside improbable, Byrne halted.

"Now say yer prayers," he commanded. "I'm a-goin' to croak yer."

The deputy sheriff looked up at him in wild-eyed terror.

"My God!" he cried. "I ain't done nothin' to you Byrne. Haven't I always been your friend? What've I ever done to you? For God's sake Byrne you ain't goin' to murder me, are you? They'll get you, sure."

Billy Byrne let a rather unpleasant smile curl his lips.

"No," he said, "you ain't done nothin' to me; but you stand for the law, damn it, and I'm goin' to croak everything I meet that stands for the law. They wanted to send me up for life—me, an innocent man. Your kind done it—the cops. You ain't no cop; but you're just as rotten. Now say yer prayers."

He leveled the revolver at his victim's head. The deputy sheriff slumped to his knees and tried to embrace Billy Byrne's legs as he pleaded for his life.

"Cut it out you poor boob," admonished Billy. "You've gotta die and if you was half a man you'd wanna die like one."

The deputy sheriff slipped to the ground. His terror had overcome him, leaving him in happy unconsciousness. Byrne stood looking down upon the man for a moment. His wrist was chained to that of the other, and the pull of the deputy's body was irritating.

Byrne stooped and placed the muzzle of the revolver back of the man's ear. "Justice!" he muttered, scornfully, and his finger tightened upon the trigger.

Then, conjured from nothing, there rose between himself and the unconscious man beside him the figure of a beautiful girl. Her face was brave and smiling, and in her eyes was trust and pride and pride in Billy Byrne.

Billy closed his eyes tight as though in physical pain. He brushed his hand quickly across his face.

"Gawd!" he muttered. "I can't do it—but I came awful close to it."

Dropping the revolver into his side pocket he knelt beside the deputy sheriff and commenced to go through the man's clothes. After a moment he came upon what he sought—a key ring confining several keys.

Billy found the one he wished and presently he was free. He still stood looking at the deputy sheriff.

Daily NewsLetter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Michael F. Dacey, Denver correspondent, tells of a plan to pierce the Continental Divide with a tunnel which will open up a vast new agricultural development on the western slope of the Rockies in Colorado.

MONDAY—Frederic K. Abbott, Paris correspondent, paints a verbal picture of Paris in midwinter, just before the Christmas shopping begins.

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.

DENVER, Dec. 15.—Denver's campaign for "500,000 in 1930" is going forward with a new zest following the decision of the State Supreme court upholding the legality of the legislative act creating the Moffatt tunnel bonding district.

The district, including all of Denver and all or portions of several counties to be mostly benefited by construction of the tunnel, has been authorized to issue bonds to the extent of $6,700,000 and the work of boring the tunnel that will pierce the Continental Divide 50 miles west of Denver is expected to get under way shortly.

Building of the tunnel will eliminate numerous steep grades on the Denver and Salt Lake (Moffatt) railroad, greatly reduce the mileage between this city and the Pacific coast, and open up a vast area of agricultural and mineral lands on the western slope of the Rockies, in Colorado. Denver will be the distributing point for this newly-created empire.

A recent canvass of the city indicated a population of approximately 280,000, a gain of nearly 25,000 since the 1920 Federal census.

Keen interest is manifested not only in Colorado but throughout the entire West in the coming inaugural of William E. Sweet, Democratic Governor-elect. Sweet will have a Republican senate on his hands, and a lower house practically evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats, and his efforts to put over the "constructive and progressive" program which he pledged during his intensive campaign will be watched closely. He has threatened to invade the "home district" of any legislator who "unreasonably" opposes his "constructive" efforts.

Governor-elect Sweet was bitterly opposed in both the primary and general election, being accused of radicalism and "preparing to turn the state over to Bolshevism."

The cry of Socialist and radical has calmed down somewhat since election, and the governor-elect has been busy addressing civic, business and social clubs on his proposed legislative programme. He startled members of the exclusive Denver club, however, when he told 125 leading citizens there, whose total wealth was estimated to exceed half a billion dollars, that they should quit "chasing their tails around" in their desire to amass greater fortunes, and devote more time to the study of industrial problems and exercise more justice in their settlement.

Sweet is termed a "millionaire" himself.

The meeting at the Denver club was a strictly private affair, but it leaked out that the industrial captains who heard Sweet were gloomy countenances through his talk, especially when he urged the principle of a living wage and a strongly denounced child labor.

The atmosphere is reported to have cleared considerably when Governor Shoup, Republican incumbent, followed Sweet on the speakers' platform with a few pithy remarks.

Sweet had made reference to "three fundamental propositions" for the solution of present-day economic, industrial and social problems.

"This talk of three fundamental propositions," Shoup is quoted as saying, "reminds me of three tasks that I have found hardest to complete:

"First—To climb a fence that leans toward you.

"Second—To kiss a girl leaning away from you.

"Third—To follow a man who is full of prunes."

The spontaneous outburst of laughter, in which Sweet is said to have joined, dispelled the gloom and the tension of the millionaire clubmen lessened.

Governor-elect Sweet is reported as favoring the appointment of Rev. George S. Lackland, pastor of Grace M. E. church, as a member of the State Industrial commission—a body that has incurred the displeasure of organized labor in this state. Rev. Lackland, a former British subject, was admitted to citizenship last week after a severe grilling by Federal Judge J. Foster Symes on his alleged "Red" tendencies. The clergyman conducts an "open forum" in his Denver church where many leading so-called radicals of the country have spoken.

It is almost certain that the Colorado rangers' sweet police will cease to function even before Governor-elect Sweet takes office. The governor-elect made the rangers one of his leading issues in the campaign, accusing them of suspending the constitutional rights of citizens and charging that the rangers suppressed mass meetings of organized labor leaders in the coal fields. The existing law provides only for payment of the rangers to December 1, and many members of the state constabulary have already resigned because of the prospect that no appropriation could be made by the new state administration for their December salaries.

A real panacea for nervous ailments so prevalent amongst world war veterans is being practiced with much success by Dr. Edward W. Lazell of the Veterans' Bureau here, according to admissions that a secret method of treating goitre is in vogue.

"Synthetic psychology" is responsible for the cure of 57 cases of this neurotic affliction, it is reported.

Goitre, according to physicians at the Veterans' Bureau, is the result of a nervous condition caused by anxiety. The world war, with its high nervous tension, produced large numbers of goitre victims amongst returned soldiers.

Because it is feared that "unscrupulous practitioners" might seize upon the discovery to defraud the unwary, the formula of "synthetic psychology" will be kept secret, although it was admitted that the treatment was confined to lecture courses that contain material gathered during years of studying and scientific findings.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

A HANDY OSCILLATOR

This oscillator offers a simple, efficient and economical method of receiving long undamped waves. This instrument consists of a piece of mounted bakelite containing three small mica condensers, two of which may be connected so as to form the capacity—coupled feed-back circuit, and one constitutes the grid condenser.

By proper connection a variety of capacities may be obtained ranging from .001 Mfd. to .0001 Mfd. and may be used for many purposes where a fixed condenser is needed.

EARLY DAYS OF RADIO

The preceding articles, dating from the middle of September, dealing with elementary electricity, electro-magnetism, electrical machinery and fundamental sources of power, have led the reader to a stage where a discussion of radio telegraphy and telephony should now be practicable. It is appropriate, however, that any explanation of radio to the uninitiated should include, however brief, something of the origin of the art.

The complete history of the new science would require several volumes and would include the efforts of experimenters who have contributed to the final result, but who did not in their day even dream of what they had individually assisted in constructing.

The radio art owes its origin to Professor Hertz, a German scientist, who in the eighties conducted a series of experiments which led to the construction of the first apparatus for the propagation and detection of other waves, which he described in his book, "Electric Waves," in 1888. Professor Hertz's work, however, was not fully proclaimed until Guglielmo (William) Marconi, then a very youthful student, conceived his commercial advantages and utiliz-

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BLACK CAT

"Uncle Wiggily! Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Wait a minute!" called a voice one morning, as the bunny gentleman started away from his hollow stump bungalow, to hop along looking for an adventure.

"What is it, Baby Bunt? Why are you stopping Uncle Wiggily when it is so near to Christmas? He must see if he can help Santa Claus?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Oh, I won't keep Uncle Wiggily not a minute—hardly a second," answered Baby Bunt. The cute, teasing little rabbit girl, who had been found in a hollow stump, was staying for a few days with Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane.

"Well, Bunny, what is it you want?" asked Mr. Longears, waiting in the hall long enough to glance into the mirror, to see that his pink nose was twinkling straight.

"Please bring me a little red toy blow-up balloon," begged Baby Bunt.

"Bring you a balloon? Oh, all right, I will!" promised Uncle Wiggily. "If I can't get a red one, will sky blue, pink or green do just as well?"

"Yes," answered Baby Bunt, and then she hopped about the bungalow, singing, because she was happy that the bunny gentleman was going to bring her a balloon.

Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, looking on all sides for an adventure. The rabbit must needs go rather slowly, for there was snow on the ground, and he had not brought his snowshoes with him, not thinking the drifts were deep enough, which they hardly were.

"If I were a snowshoe rabbit or northern hare, who is a cousin of mine, I would never have to carry snowshoes," thought Uncle Wiggily. "If snowshoes grow on his feet in winter?"

This is very true, as perhaps you know. In winter, on the hind feet of the snowshoe rabbit, there grow large fluffy bunches of fur which are almost like snowshoes to a hunter or Indian trapper. The fur keeps the hare's paws from sinking in the snow. But Uncle Wiggily had none of these, so he had to get along as best he could, unless he made snowshoes for himself, which he often did.

"But I'm getting along pretty well," said the bunny rabbit gentleman to himself, "though I don't seem to be finding many adventures. Suppose it is so near Christmas that every one is busy getting the tree ready or preparing for Santa Claus. Well, I may as well go to the toy store and get Baby Bunt's balloon."

There were so many lovely things to look at in the toy store that the rabbit uncle remained there longer than he intended. The longer he stayed, the longer he had to wait for Baby Bunt's balloon. But at last he started back to his hollow stump bungalow.

Now, though Uncle Wiggily knew it not, an adventure was coming after him, and it was not a jolly good adventure, either, for it was a dangerous, deathly adventure.

The name of the adventure was "Blackcat," an animal of the weasel family, very fierce and hungry for rabbits. Some hunters call the blackcat a "fisher," though it never fishes and will never go in the water if it can help it. The Indians call the blackcat "Pekan," meaning the killer. In the dark, for the blackcat starts out after dark to catch rabbits and squirrels.

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along over the snow, thinking how pleased Baby Bunt would be with her balloon, when, all of a sudden, in the gathering dusk behind him, Uncle Wiggily heard something coming after him.

"It's Blackcat!" cried the bunny, looking behind him, and Blackcat does look like a big, black cat, with a fluffy tail. On the ground, where he was now traveling, Blackcat looked like a dog, and altogether he was a strange, fierce animal.

"Wait a minute! Wait a minute!" cried Blackcat after Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, ho! I know what you want me to wait for—so you can nibble my ears!" cried the bunny. "Not much! I'm going to run!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped fast, but Blackcat hopped and glided along much faster, and Blackcat would have caught the bunny except, just then, Uncle Wiggily reached the bank of a little river. It was flowing so fast that it had not frozen over.

"If I can jump in and swim across, Blackcat can't get me," thought the bunny. "But I am ing Hertz's experiments and his own ideas originated the first practical radio stations.

Hertz, who, incidentally, had understood and applied the principle of resonance, Marconi took the Hertz oscillator and resonator and adapted them for a transmitter and a receiver, respectively, by making both circuits open instead of closed, and grounding the antenna. Tuning between the transmitting and receiving antennae in this pioneer work was accomplished by decreasing or increasing the capacity of the plates on top of his aerials.

In his experiments Hertz had used for a detector a microscopic spark gap. Marconi in his work utilized a Branley-Lodge coherer as a detector.

"It's Blackcat!" cried the bunny.

into the icy water the bunny leaped and swam across as best he could. He did very well, too, for he couldn't sink on account of the balloon. It kept him up and he floated to shore.

"Ho! I fooled you, Blackcat!" cried the bunny as he reached the far bank of the stream and looked across.

"Wah-gurr-r-zoop!" howled the Pekan. And, though he was very hungry, he couldn't nibble the bunny's ears, for Blackcat was afraid of water. So the bunny escaped, and very glad he was that Baby Bunt had wanted a balloon.

Thus everything came out all right, and if the goldfish doesn't try to catch a ride on the window shade when it's rolling up toward the ceiling, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jennie's purse.

Woman Claims She Took Goats Walking

AKRON, O.—"I took the goats walking every day, and they jumped and hopped with delight and climbed the trees for the fruit."

Thus Mrs. Anne Cherryholm sought to defend her landlord from charges of abusing and neglecting his livestock.

Eli Breitenstein, sixty-four, was the defendant, owner of hogs, sheep and two goats. He was accused of not feeding them. The sheep had not been sheared for years, and their wool was full of ticks and lice.

Jury Convicts Boy; Rebuked by Sister

FORT WORTH, Tex.—A jury sentenced Edwin Burkhardt, 15, to five years in the state training school in connection with the presumably accidental shooting of his chum, Trop Coker, while the two were bunting.

Burkhardt's small sister didn't approve of the sentence. As the jurors started to leave the box she halted them, saying, through her tears:

"Wait a minute. I hope each and every one of you who has a boy gets the same thing."

SPIDERS DEVOTE CARE IN WEAVING

Alfred Cookman, in Second Article of Series, Tells Of 'Architecture'

Following is the second article on "Spiders and Their Labors," written especially for The Glendale Evening News by Alfred Cookman, M. Sc., of this city, and connected with the biology department of the Polytechnic high school of Los Angeles:

By ALFRED COOKMAN, M. Sc.

As the light of day begins to fade and the purple of twilight casts its shadows over the hills, and before the gold of dawn, one may see all kinds of spiders at work, spinning their snares in conspicuous places from house-tops, among trees, and across paths in the garden. I have found them at work under bridges, among tules of a marsh, and under a church pulpit while the choir was singing an anthem.

The organs with which the spider spins its gossamer threads are situated near the extremity of the abdomen. It consists of six spinning fingers, with many tiny tubes, or spools, at the ends, out of which the silk issues.

The spools are interesting anatomical organs. The spider uses different spools for spinning different kinds of silk, according to the use which is to be made of it. A cocoon, or a web consists of various kinds of silk. The casual observer has the idea that a web is a mass of many threads all alike in texture. Most of the threads in a snare have hundreds of minute, sticky beads every so far apart measuring to the thousandths of a millimeter, and can only be seen with a microscope. These sticky beads serve to capture the unwary insect and to hold him in the web.

Weaving the Web

The spider lives on the juices of insects. Its first problem is to catch the insect; therefore it weaves a web, or snare, in which the unwary insect is imprisoned. There are a large number of spiders that do not spin webs. They lie in wait for the approach of an insect and then leap upon it and take its life. Some varieties are very minute and hardly visible to the naked eye; living the parasitic life; feeding upon their prey; sucking its blood; and propagating the species within the skin and tissues of a warm-blooded organism. Then, again, there are spiders so protectively colored and so nearly resembling their environment, which is usually the corolla of some gorgeously-tinted flower, and usually a member of the composite group, that they hide among the ray flowers and sometimes burrow among the disc flowers, and become covered with pollen. Upon the approach of an insect, a bee for example, intent upon pollinating the flower and securing nectar, this clever little arachnid suddenly leaps forward and fastens his chelicerae in the flesh of the insect. It will crush out the juices from its body and destroy its life.

Constructing Web

The writer wishes to describe the program that follows in the construction of a web of the "Orb Weaver" (Miranda aurantia) the garden spider. This spider has been observed to issue 200 yards of thread without stopping in the construction of its snare, or web.

The orb weaver hangs or suspends a vertical web. They vary in size and texture. Orb weavers are widely distributed all over the world. They are most numerous in the tropical portion of the world. There are a hundred or more species residing within the confines of the State of California. First, a single strand is spun with one end fast to a leaf, or twig. This strand issues from the spinneret as a viscid substance which, on contact with the air, congeals and becomes a thread. The loose end of this initial cable is carried on the breeze until it becomes caught on a twig or some convenient object. Then the spider tightens the line and passes over it many times with her thread, to strengthen it. I recall an occasion last summer in San Diego. An orb weaver made 197 trips back and forth on her initial cable line before she began to weave her snare. She believes in making certain that her foundation is substantial before she proceeds to build up the web. A diameter line is run across the foundation cable, and from the crossing of these two lines radii are spun out, like spokes in a wheel. The radii begin at the hub of this wheel, and the framework is braced with a series of concentric rings.

Many Attachments

A few lines are run around the remaining portion, as scaffolding from which to finish the work. Working from the circumference toward the center, or hub, the spider fills in the web with sticky lines heavily beaded for the capturing of prey. These lines are attached to each intersection with a radius. In a full orb web there may be over 1000 attachments.

Spiders are known by their trades, i. e., by the kind of snares they construct. We have the line weaver, orb weaver, sheet weaver, lace weaver, cob weaver, funnel weaver, trap door spider, water spider (building a snare beneath the surface of the water in some lake or slough), and the ballooning spider or aeronaut.

In the next article the writer will discuss several fundamental topics concerning the method of "feeling a bite" and attacking prey, and will describe in a brief and concise way how some of our spiders construct their webs. The writer will also discuss the most dangerous spider on the American

REALTORS DRAFT NEW LEGISLATION

Proposed Amendments Are Ratified at Santa Ana; Benefit Profession

In a statement issued today to the press, a program of constructive real estate license and colonization legislation was made public by Frazier O. Reed, president of the California Real Estate association. The proposed amendments, President Reed declared, will do more to safeguard the investor in lands and realty in California, both improved and unimproved, than any legislation yet enacted in this state.

The proposed new license law changes were ratified at a large-attended meeting of the state realtors at their convention in Santa Ana. More than fifty cities and counties were represented and members of local boards from many parts of California participated.

Chief Amendment

The chief amendment to the realty license law will call for board of examiners, similar to the rule in other professions in California and other states. Proposed land legislation will require the seal and certification of the state real estate commissioner on every farm land and colony project submitted to the public. President Reed declared, "Land owners representing 1,000,000 acres of land, and accredited realtors for hundreds of land owners and subdividers, approved this program in principle at recent meetings. It is understood that state officials who are in touch with the needs for a stronger realty license law, are favorable to the proposed legislation as desired by land owners and realtors. The proposed laws will be submitted to conferences on legislation at Los Angeles and San Francisco."

Outlining the work of the legislative committee of which he has been chairman for the past year, William H. Akin, director of the California Real Estate association, in a statement given out today by the state association news department at Los Angeles, said:

Proposed Legislation

"The California Real Estate association in convention endorsed the principle of regulation by the real estate commissioner, according to law and subject to limitations being worked out, including a method of appeal, of all promotional, colonization and subdivision projects as a proper safeguard for the savings of the masses and the absentee investor, and as a means of restoring full confidence in land advertising; also approves and strongly recommends the passage of legislation to create an examining board for applicants for licenses under the real estate act in order to raise the personnel of license holders in the state and safeguard the public against incompetence or dishonesty; also approves of legislation to more clearly define the purpose of the act; to increase the revolving fund and to provide a penalty for failure to maintain an office, display a sign and license."

Among the realtors supporting the above legislation at the Santa Ana conference were: Freeman H. Bloodgood, former real estate commissioner of Santa Ana; Daniel W. Carmichael, former California state president; Chris R. Jones and Will C. Wright of Sacramento; Fred E. Reed, former state president, of Oakland; Hayden F. Jones, state director, of Fresno; President Chas. N. Woodworth, Col. E. N. Jones, C. E. Arnold and Percy H. Goodwin of the San Diego Realty board; Ray Edgar of El Centro; W. E. Stephens of Riverside; J. C. Preston and President George W. Holbrook of San Bernardino; Thos. W. McManus, Director and President R. A. Moore of the Kern County Realty board; George J. Wren, Past State president of Modesto; W. L. Atkinson, past state president, and Chas. F. Crothers, state director at large, both of San Jose; George W. McOmber, director of Santa Barbara; President Fred K. Groves of Merced; John C. Wallace, president of the California Association of Realtor Secretaries, of Santa Ana; Henry P. Barbour and John G. Munford, land, state directors of Long Beach; Jos. H. Dorn and President Wm. Wilson of Pasadena; State Vice-Presidents Herman Janss, O. A. Vickrey, Everett A. White and C. A. Ricks of the State Association; Past State President C. C. C. Tatum, William H. Akin, Robert Baker, W. Ross Campbell, W. I. Hollingsworth and others, of Los Angeles.

British Soldiers Will Be Well Fed

LONDON—British soldiers are to be fed henceforth as never before. So says the latest edict of the Army Council.

"Cookhouse" is no longer to be the dumping ground of the impossible soldier. Every man employed as a cook henceforth must be specially trained. Every officer henceforward must know enough about food to discover whether it is properly cooked or not. And attractive service of food is to be as essential as good cooking.

The new army cook from now on must not on any account begin his day's work without being shaved; he must not smoke in the cookhouse, on threat of direct punishment, and he must have clean hands and nails.

The new soldier of the line is to be given a cup of tea when he wakes in the morning, and a liberal breakfast is to follow. Each midday meal must consist of meat, vegetables and sweets, and a substantial tea and supper must follow each day.

"Lining-up" for rations is entirely abolished. Seating accommodation must be comfortable and adequate, and, above all, officers must make arrangements for food to be served steaming hot.

The war has taught the British war office that Napoleon was right when he remarked that "an army marches upon its stomach."

Modern Hat Ruins Hair, Says Marcel

PARIS.—"The modern hat is the ruin of women's hair," said Monsieur Marcel, creator of the Marcel wave, who has just been celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his invention in the French capital.

"There are many beautiful modes of dressing the hair," he continues, "which cannot be used because of the impossible head-gear the women insist upon wearing. Elaborate and attractive coiffures are out of place with the modern hat."

With the passing of the simple and easy mode of dressing the hair in "bobbed" fashion comes the complicated and elaborate styles which will probably be the fashion for the winter season at least. They are adaptations of the modes of 1830. The hair is brought to the back of the head and converted into a mass of curls, a frowsily, towzily mass which has acquired the name of "coup de vent" or "a guest of wind." They are short curls which just touch the shoulder and the French call them "flapper" curls.

The whole thing is done up at the back and care should be taken not to gather it too high up. There is no "bun" in the real sense of the word. This is what Marcel thinks will be the popular vogue this season.

Campaign Near End For Christmas Seals

With little more than a week to go the Tuberculosis Christmas seal sales committee, under the directorship of Dr. Jessie Russell, is making every effort to push this campaign to a successful close before the last holiday rush. Unusual interest has been aroused in the sale, due no doubt to the establishment by the county health department during the past year of child hygiene programs, health centers, nutrition classes and other prevention work throughout Los Angeles county. Seventy-five per cent of the proceeds of the sale of these little seals will be used by the county health department in furthering their activities along these lines. It is a work which should have the support of every citizen who believes in raising the health standards of his community. The county committee, of which Dr. J. L. Pomeroy is chairman, wishes to thank the people of Glendale for the splendid co-operation already given, but desires to say that the campaign is still on, and contributions to this worthy cause may be made through the local chairman.

Women of Eastern Star Hold Meeting

The 1913 matrons' club of the Order of the Eastern Star met yesterday for luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. C. Brown, 227 North Louise street. At the business meeting ten dollars was voted as a Christmas donation to the children of the Los Angeles Orthopedic hospital. Following the business session, a social afternoon was enjoyed. Those attending were Mrs. Gertrude Baldwin of Glendale, and Mrs. E. M. Frost, Mrs. Fannie Hall, Mrs. J. L. Butler and Mrs. Ella May Chandler of Los Angeles. The total membership is about twice this number, but the inclemency of the weather was responsible for the small attendance.

Community Choir Rehearses Monday

There will be a community singing rehearsal next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the high school, announced Supervisor of City Schools Richardson D. White. The public is urged to attend and polish up on these numbers in preparation for the Christmas show.

New Ticket Office Is Opened by P. E.

Tickets to all parts of the United States can now be purchased at 121 South Brand boulevard, in the new headquarters of the Pacific Electric. H. N. Vaughan, who has had a number of years' experience in the sale of railway tickets and spent several years in the Los Angeles ticket office of the Southern Pacific, now has charge of the local Pacific Electric ticket office. "We have all the facilities here for the sale of tickets that they have at the city office in Los Angeles," he remarked yesterday afternoon. "There is no reason why anyone should go to Los Angeles to buy railroad tickets. We can not only sell tickets here to any city or town in the country but we can arrange for Pullman reservations." Baggage may be delivered to the Pacific Electric freight station instead of to the Southern Pacific local station if it is more convenient to do so, according to Mr. Vaughan. When it is brought to the Pacific Electric, it is sent in express cars to the Los Angeles baggage room of the Southern Pacific.

U. S. AIR FLEET WILL USE HELIUM

Non-Inflammable Gas Will Make Flying of Dirigible Balloons Safer

By HARRY L. ROGERS
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Weeks is planning to make balloons safe for balloons.

Although the Army Air Service has been working for many months upon the problem of producing helium gas in large quantities, the destruction recently of the Army dirigible C-2 at San Antonio has aroused the War Department to increased efforts in this direction, and it is hoped that within less than a year the Army will have a sufficient quantity of the non-inflammable gas for all its needs.

At the present time the Army has about 1,000,000 cubic feet of helium. This amount is considerably less than sufficient to fly an airship of the dimensions of the giant dirigible Roma, which burned at Norfolk more than a year ago with terrible loss of life. The report of the board of officers which investigated the Roma catastrophe declared the loss of life would have been much less if the Roma's great envelope had been filled with helium instead of the highly inflammable hydrogen, but since the Army did not have the helium the accident could not have been avoided.

No Loss of Life.
Fortunately there was no loss of life when the C-2 burned at San Antonio. And since the envelope of the C-2, like those of most of the other dirigibles now in existence, is unsuited for the use of helium, it is perhaps just as well that she burned under those circumstances before there had been another such catastrophe as that of the Roma to the record of the Air Service.

The joint Army and Navy helium plant at Fort Worth, Tex., is now in operation. It is from this plant that both the Army and Navy expect to obtain their future supplies of non-inflammable gas. It is estimated that by the end of next year the plant will have produced from 12,000,000 to 14,000,000 cubic feet of helium, which is expected to be sufficient for the immediate needs of the two branches of the service.

Not only does helium require a different material in the dirigible envelope, but it also requires a bigger envelope proportionately than that necessary for airships floated by hydrogen. The proportion between the lifting power of helium and that of hydrogen is about as 92 to 100, according to the Air Service experts. This means that the envelope of the Roma or the C-2 would have had to be enlarged if the ships were to have had the same buoyancy when helium gas was used.

Building Helium Bags
The four new dirigibles now being built for the Army Air Service are to be equipped with envelopes suitable for using helium. This means that a different sort of material must be used in the construction of the bag. It has been estimated that an airship of the dimensions of the C-2, equipped with the same sort of envelope, would have permitted the escape of approximately 6,000 cubic feet of helium gas a day, while with the specially adapted bags the loss is reduced to almost nothing.

Of these four airships three are small, being of about the same dimensions as the C-2. The fourth, however, will be nearly four times as large, and will be only slightly smaller than the Roma, believed to be the largest dirigible of her type ever constructed.

While there is a difference of opinion among Air Service experts as to the practical military value of the dirigible, the Department has no intention of abandoning this type of aircraft. If the ill-fated Roma had continued in service it had been intended to try the experiment of using her as an "airplane carrier," from which airplanes might be launched during flight of the airship. This line of experiment probably will be continued in the future.

Judge Objects to Prison Board Rule

DALTON, Ga.—Judge M. C. Tarver, of the Cherokee circuit, was "peevish" when the state prison commission requested him to make some recommendation as to whether or not George Lowry, sent up from one of the counties in the judge's circuit for violation of the prohibition law, should be pardoned and directed a spicy letter to that body, in which he informed the commission that no "good reason existed" why the commission "should not recommend emptying the Georgia penitentiary," if they desired to be consistent.

The judge's letter was sarcastic in pointing out various cases where the prison commission had failed to make requests in issuing pardons and concluded with quoting his oath of office and recommending that Lowry "be allowed to receive adequate punishment, represented by the sentence he is now serving."

RAIL FUND CASE SUDDENLY ENDS

Settle Matter Out of Court
By Payment of $310, It
Is Announced

paid subscriptions but without success.

"It is stated by the committee that more than 100 meetings were held for the purpose of working out the many questions that came up during the time which the committee had the matter in charge, a period of approximately eight years.

"An action was instituted by three or four of the contributors against the committee for an accounting. These contributors alleged that they were suing on behalf of themselves and all other contributors, approximately 200 in number.

"When the matter came up for trial it developed that only five contributors were desirous of making any claims for an accounting and that more than sixty contributors had executed writings, stating that they were perfectly satisfied with the work of the committee and that the action was not being prosecuted with any approval on their part. The five contributors who were desirous of proceeding with the action and the amounts paid by each are as follows:

"C. G. Edmonds, $100.
"John McIver, $100.
"Augusta Askeland, $250.
"George F. Dair, $100.
"John C. Pierce, $20.

Payment Is Made

"It was proposed by these five contributors that if the committee would pay them the total sum of $310 to be distributed among them in proportion to their respective contributions that they would cause the action to be dismissed. In view of the fact that the trial would entail an expense of many times this amount the members of the committee, upon the advice of their counsel, took up a contribution among themselves and presented it to these five contributors as a full satisfaction of their claims.

"This payment, however, was made upon a written stipulation filed in court and signed by counsel for the aforementioned contributors, reciting among other things: 'Provided, however, and in all events, that the making of such payment is in no sense an admission or confession that the members of said committee, or any one or any of the same, are liable for any amount whatever; on the contrary, the payment is made to said parties and accepted by them with the full understanding that the members of said committee maintain and assert that they are in no sense liable in said action, and to the contrary claiming and maintaining that they had accounted correctly and faithfully for all moneys paid to said committee in behalf of the said East Side Railway Right-of-way Fund.'"

It appears from the records of the committee that financial statements were furnished from time to time to all contributors to the fund showing the collections and disbursements made.

Ferleur Studio to Teach Ballet Dance

The newly opened Ferleur Dance Studio at 140 North Brand boulevard, is inaugurating a course of instruction in modern, classical and ballet dancing, according to an announcement made today.

The hall, which is one of the largest in the city, has been completely renovated and refurnished. The floor is excellent and the surroundings artistic and attractive to a marked degree.

Miss Marcella Webb of Glendale and formerly a student at the high school and, who for several years, has been perfecting herself in all forms of dancing, is a pupil of the celebrated Ernest Belcher, having filled professional engagements, will be instructor for the ballet and classical dancing. Pupils will be enrolled, beginning December 20, from 3 to 5 o'clock every day except Saturday, on which day enrollment will be from 10 to 3 o'clock.

Special attention will be given by Miss Webb to forming a thorough technique as a basis for all the higher forms.

Arthur La Fleur, instructor at the Beverly Hills dancing club and recently from a New York studio of modern dancing, will instruct in the new ballroom steps. Many popular dances, such as "The Dot", "Ritz Waltz", "Tango Waltz", etc., will be taught. Enrollment will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 11 to 4:30 o'clock.

The Ferleur Dance Studio offers as a special feature its Saturday night public dances, when the hall is thrown open to the people of Glendale. For these weekly dances one of the best orchestras in Los Angeles has been secured. These dances have already proven themselves a big success, it is said, and the management invites all interested to come with their friends, assuring them of a delightful evening.

Ralph Pearson Is Displaying Etchings

Ralph Pearson, well known American etcher, is a guest in Glendale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swartz in La Ramada Park at 1012 North Brand. Mr. Pearson has an exhibit of his etchings hung in the Swartz home at La Ramada, and he is also exhibiting at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles.

Downing. The fourteen Santa Clauses will make their recommendations to this committee by Tuesday of next week, whereupon the proper gift for each child will be purchased and delivered before Christmas by its particular Santa Claus.

Some interesting statistics were uncovered when President Kent called for all members born in Glendale to rise. None rose. By this time interest was keen. He then called for all members born in California to rise. None rose. A tension developed. He then called for any visiting Rotarians born in California to rise. This at last brought results. A lone man stood up, erect, proud. He was Alexander Stewart, of Oakland, Pacific coast Community Service director. In all that assemblage of nearly forty men, he was the only man born in California.

Nothing could more vividly have portrayed California's position in the nation than this—a generation ago a mere hand of pioneers, today a vast, teeming empire of active men, with yearly new legions pouring in from every state of the union and every nation of the globe.

In this latter connection it was learned by the same process that four members of the local Rotary club were born outside of the United States—two in Canada, one in England and one in Scotland. It was also brought out that the club numbered among its members five grandfathers. Overshadowing these statistics in local import is the fact that last week made the third consecutive hundred per cent meeting.

Father and Son

It was announced that the luncheon of the week after next will be "Father and Son" meeting. The committee in charge of the program numbers Valentine Hollister, C. C. Cooper, William Howe and Harry Webb.

Visiting Rotarians present, it was brought out, were Alexander Stewart, of Oakland, N. J. Lindgreen, of Aberdeen, S. Dak., and James Colkitt, of Los Angeles.

Following these statistics and announcements, Mr. Stewart took the stage for a brief talk on the history of Christmas carols, pointing out that they are among the most precious heritages of mankind, coming down to us through the ages.

Mr. Stewart then led the club in the singing of three numbers that will be a part of the Glendale Community caroling on Christmas Eve. They were "Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night" and "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen."

Following this, C. H. Kirkham gave an interesting talk on the manufacture of lead pencils, passing around a board containing samples of this invaluable object of daily commercial and home life, in every stage from the unrefined constituent parts to the assembled and polished whole.

The meeting closed with a song.

Many Visitors See New Picture Place

Art and drama blended in historic harmony at beckoning throngs to Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian theatre from the screen capital itself and from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale and other sections of the southland, and all being eager to see both the beauties of the Egyptian film temple and the thrilling scenes in Douglas Fairbanks' "Robin Hood."

Frons also have been pleased by Sid Grauman's device of giving only two shows daily, at 2 and 8 p. m. with all seats reserved and on sale a week in advance, this arrangement permitting the giving of the theatre parties without fear that seats may not be available.

Not only has the new screen palace made a picturesque impression on the minds of those who have visited it, but "Robin Hood" likewise has scored a surpassing triumph of success. Admiration that approaches rapture has been the predominating factor in the expressions of those who have seen the Fairbanks masterpiece of romantic chivalry in Merrie England during the days when Robin Hood held sway for Richard Cœur-de-Lion in the glades of Sherwood Forest.

From its opening scenes that portray the knights of England about to embark on a crusade of the Holy Land, to rescue the birthplace of Christ from the grip of the infidel Mohammedan, to the closing views of Richard beating futilely on the bridal chamber door of Robin Hood and Maid Marian, the photoplay has scored a tremendous hit and a long run for it at Grauman's Hollywood is assured by the popular favor that already has manifested itself in a sweeping demand for tickets and the ninth week of its engagement is in full sway.

CHANGE MEETING PLACE

The conference of Y. M. C. A. state secretaries was to have held its Saturday, Sunday and Monday meetings at the "Red Triangle" cabin in the San Gabriel mountains, but the recent rains have caused such serious landslides that the road leading in has become unsafe. It has, therefore, been decided to utilize the facilities of the Pasadena Y. M. C. A. building for these meetings.

BALLOTS AGAINST L. A. ANNEXATION

Local Real Estate Board
Votes 'No' in C. of C.
Membership Test

used by state corporations for political purposes.
Dr. Russell moved that the local realty board go on record as being opposed to the State Real Estate association accepting contributions from any state corporation for membership. Her resolution was passed.

C. D. Thom, president of the Real Estate board, notified the membership that the national meeting of real estate boards will be held in Jacksonville, Fla., early in January. At this gathering articles are read touching on the history of every city that maintains a real estate board.

Mr. Thom, who, as president of the local board, is listed to attend the Florida meet, stated that he believed that this would be a wonderful opportunity to broadcast "Glendale" to the southern section of the Atlantic coast. He said he had already been directed by the national association to prepare a pamphlet on the history of Glendale.

A motion was passed also by the membership for the establishment in the board's headquarters, Central building, of a school where members of the organization could receive instruction on the recently adopted multiple listing system. The school will be conducted every Monday night between 5 and 6 o'clock.

Brotherhood Banquet Takes Place Tonight

Epworth leagues of the Pasadena district will have their annual oratorical contest tonight in the First Methodist church in conjunction with a meeting of the First Methodist Brotherhood.

Fred Peck, local high school debater, will represent Glendale in the oratorical contest. There are four other contestants.

Speakers of the evening will be Rev. Bromley Oxnam, pastor of the Church of All Nations in Los Angeles, and Rev. B. Dudley Snadden, former pastor of First Methodist church of Glendale and now pastor of the First Methodist church of South Pasadena.

"The Good Samaritan" is the title of a two act play to be presented by the Epworth League of Monterey Park.

A banquet will be served at 7 o'clock by the women of the First Methodist church. Places are being reserved for about 400 young people from the fifty-four Epworth Leagues in this district. If rain does not interfere, they will come from Pomona, Ontario, Uplands, San Bernardino, Redlands, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Glendora, Azusa and other communities.

Gives Hard Work as Longevity's Recipe

WICHITA, Kan.—If you would live long, work and work hard.

This is the tip Mrs. Josie Morse, who celebrated her 105th birthday recently, is passing along to persistent inquiries, when questioned as to how she does it. She said she was born in October, 1817, in New York state.

"Women nowadays don't work like they used to, and many don't know what work is," she asserted. "I have worked hard the greater part of my life, and I can still make some of the younger women stretch themselves a bit to keep even with my pace."

DROPS OF BLOOD REVEAL DISEASE?

Dr. W. H. Appleton, Glendale
Man, Tells of Scientist's
Unusual Claims

A drop of blood shall tell! Diseases can now be diagnosed by physicians hundreds of thousands of miles away from patients whom they have never seen and about whom they know nothing—by electrical analysis of a single drop of their blood.

Dr. W. H. Appleton, of 111 East Broadway, shares with a number of other physicians knowledge which he believes will revolutionize the medical profession.

Recently, Dr. Appleton returned from San Francisco where he took post-graduate work at the clinic of Dr. Albert Abrams, declared to be one of the foremost physicians in the world. What he learned there startled, astonished and astounded him.

According to Dr. Abrams, who is the originator of what is known as "the electronic method" of diagnosing and treating disease, every drop of blood is composed of millions of tiny electrons.

The ordinary electron is so small that the hydrogen atom, which cannot be seen by the naked eye, is said to contain 800 of them. These electrons are units of electrical energy. They are in constant motion, flying around a common center in the middle of each atom. Their velocities vary from 20,000 to 50,000 miles per second. In fact, they go so fast that they seem to stand still as the spokes of a wheel are not visible when the wheel is revolving at a high velocity.

Registering Disease
"Everything animate and inanimate has a different electronic rate," remarked Dr. Appleton yesterday. "That is a matter of physics. Dr. Abrams has no monopoly upon that fact. However, he has discovered a way to make the vibratory rate of each atom express itself in terms so that with study we can understand it."

By the use of delicately adjusted and complicated apparatus, invented by Dr. Abrams, a drop of blood is forced to reveal its history and the history of all of its component atoms. If the patient, whose blood is being tested, suffers from any disease, that fact is reflected in the electronic vibrations which emanate from that single drop of blood.

"Every disease has a different vibratory rate of its own," asserted Dr. Appleton. "The vibrations form a drop of blood containing tuberculosis are entirely unlike the vibrations from leprosy, diabetes or any other disease. Consequently, it is possible to tell by this system of examining a drop of blood just what disease a patient suffers from."

Conducts Experiments
"Who's Who in America" in its latest edition recognized Dr. Albert Abrams as one of the foremost medical subjects in United States. According to his biography, he was born in San Francisco, December 8, 1863, secured his degree in medicine at Heidelberg University, which is one of the foremost of Europe, and then took post-graduate work in London, Berlin, Paris and Vienna. From 1893 to 1898 he was a professor of pathology in Cooper Medical College at San Francisco. In 1899 he was vice-president of the California State Medical Society.

For the past twenty years Dr. Abrams has been experimenting in the field of electronic energy. He is the author of a number of books on therapeutics. He is now devoting practically all of his time to a clinic in San Francisco—which is only open to regularly practicing physicians.

"This theory has gone beyond the experimental stage," remarked Dr. Appleton. "During the past two years, Dr. Abrams has analyzed over 15,000 drops of blood by his method. His diagnoses have been one hundred per cent correct. Autopsy findings and clinical manifestations have proven that this system is fundamentally sound."

May Be Revolutionized
"What I saw at the clinic in San Francisco certainly convinced me that medical science is about to be revolutionized. For instance, Dr. Abrams is able to ascertain through a drop of blood the sex and condition of the patient. He can also determine parentage. His reputation is so high that he was offered $10,000 to prove the parentage of the Tienan child in South Bend. However, he possesses about $7,000,000 so he told them that he would go into open court and testify for nothing. They refused to call upon him."

A method of treating disease has been devised by Dr. Abrams as a sequel to his method of diagnosis. He believes that he has proven that the basis of all disease is hereditary or acquired diminished resistance. In his opinion disease is merely the result when the tissues of the body are unable to stand the non-inherent of certain malignant electrons in the blood. As every portion of the body is nourished by the blood no section of the body is without its supply of blood. The effect of these malignant electrons being noticeable in one part of the body as one disease while the same electrons produce an entirely different disease in another part of the body—depending to a large extent upon the resistance offered by the healthy tissues of each section of the body.

Glendale Resident
A system of combating the activity of these malignant electrons has been devised by Dr. Abrams who is the inventor of a delicate apparatus known as an oscillo-clast. This sends vibrations into the body through the spleen, which is the filter through which all the blood passes every few seconds. These vibrations counteract the vibrations of the disease-producing electrons. When

COMMUNITY SING ON MONDAY NIGHT

Everybody Is Invited to Attend at Auditorium of High School

If a Boy Scout rings your door bell tomorrow morning don't hesitate to answer his summons. Because he will neither be a bill collector or a representative of some new magazine just on the market, but, instead, he will present you with a special invitation to attend the big Community Christmas Sing which will be held at the Glendale High school auditorium Monday night, December 18. The Scouts are doing this for their "good turn" to Community Service of Glendale, which in the proper terms of Webster, means everybody in Glendale. All Glendale Boy Scouts are urged to report to the district Scout office tomorrow morning at 9:30 for this special service.

The big Community Christmas sing Monday night will be under the special leadership of Alexander Stewart, music organizer Community Service of the Pacific coast, by invitation of Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, chairman of the program committee of the Community Christmas tree. Everybody in Glendale is invited, whether they think they can sing or not. At least everybody can enjoy the Christmas carols and the novel program which is to follow.

Today's Xmas carol is "Deck the Hall." Here it is:

"Deck the Hall"
Deck the halls with boughs of holly,

Fa la la la la la la la la.
Tis the season to be jolly,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Don we now our gay apparel,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Troll the ancient Yuletide carol,
Fa la la la la la la la la.

See the blazing Yule before us,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Strike the harp and join the chorus,
Fa la la la la la la la la.

Fa la la la la la la la la.
Follow me in merry measure,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
While I tell of Yuletide treasure,
Fa la la la la la la la la.

Fast away the old year passes,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Hail the new, ye lads and lassies,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Sing we joyous all together,
Fa la la la la la la la la.
Heedless of the wind and weather,
Fa la la la la la la la la.

"Deck the Hall"

Many nations have Christmas songs, but the gay carol is found principally in the British Isles. Before these island people were Christianized they had a mid-winter festival called Yule which was a season of merrymaking. Songs were used which not only called forth lusty, rollicking singing but also stimulated dancing and frolicking. When Christianity was established in England, the missionaries instead of attempting to suppress the carols, which were the popular music of the day, encouraged their use with the new religious interpretation of Christmas. Frequently the texts were slightly changed, or even entirely rewritten in order to present the Christian idea, but, occasionally, on the theory that "a principal point of charity; it is to be merry," the old pagan songs were preserved in their original forms.

"Deck the Hall" is one of this type. It comes from Wales, the land of hearty singing. It vividly pictures the household preparation for the joyful feast. The famous Christmas puddings mingle their odors with those of the fresh evergreens of holly and mistletoe which hang in garlands to "deck the hall." The kitchen and hall ring with the sound of happy voices. At midnight of Christmas Eve the Yule log, decorated with all kinds of devices and garnished with evergreens, is brought in with a procession of lights, banners and songs and placed in the middle of the room. Each one present was expected to sit on it and sing a Yule song. Certainly that they troiled lustily was this carol beloved of old and young.

Victory Banquet Is Held by W. C. T. U.

Local members of the Women's Christian Temperance union who attended the "victory banquet" of the state organization in Los Angeles on Wednesday night included Mesdames Marie Yoemans, Dorothy Hughey and O. S. Palmer. The purpose of the affair was that of celebrating in honor of the recent passage of the Wright prohibition enforcement act in the state of California.

Mrs. Eva Wheeler, state president of the union, acted as toastmistress during the evening. Speeches were made by Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey, one of the executives of the Los Angeles city school department; Mrs. Elden Miller, California's newest assemblywoman; Herbert Booth Smith, and others.

The velocity of these electrons has been subdued, the tissues of the body recover under the laws of mother nature.

Dr. Appleton, who resides at 1141 East Elk street, has been a resident of Glendale for the past six months. He is a graduate from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Cleveland, Ohio, and has had twenty years experience as a practicing physician, specializing in surgery. He came to Southern California from Spokane, Washington, where he was a surgeon at the Sacred Heart Hospital and later proprietor of the Washington Hospital. He is a member of the Glendale Exchange club, an Elk and a member of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Kiwanis Santa to Many Homes Xmas

"True happiness comes from service to others," asserted a recent communication from George H. Ross, president of Kiwanis International, to Lyman P. Clark, president of the local Kiwanis club, setting forth some of the ideals of Kiwanianism.

"If on Christmas Day we can bring joy to those in need and cause the sun to shine and so disperse their shadows, we can thus increase our own pleasure at the festive season," it continues. "Many thousands families will spend a cheerless Christmas unless organizations such as ours take an interest in them. I am expressing the hope that this Christmas 75,000 homes will be made happier because there is an active, alert Kiwanis club in their community."

OUR MOTTO—We do not sell cheap products, we sell good products cheap. Yours truly, DAVID DONWELL.

Glendale Wins Again

The fact that 1922 has already broken all building records in Glendale, and that this city, for its population, takes foremost rank in the nation in this respect—these are significant facts for Glendale investors.

Building (of any kind) is not only one of the safest but one of the most profitable investments that can be made. That is the case in any growing city; it is peculiarly, strikingly true in Glendale today.

But the main factor in the safety and profit of your building investment is the quality of the work you buy. KENT Service will insure the soundness of your building investment.
